His Maneuvers Wobble Capsule

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Astronaut Edward White floated into space today outside his Gemini 4 capsule, then belatedly regained his seat several minutes behind schedule. He was outside more than 20 minutes.

White and the capsule's pilot chattered so intently during the spectacular maneuver that they often ignored radio contacts with command posts in the United States over which they were whirling. The exhilaration of floating free in space seemingly caused a forgetfulness of discipline the astronauts had practiced so long.

White's maneuvers "sure make the spacecraft tough to control," command pilot James McDivitt commented early in the test on the third orbit. Keeping the Gemini in position to see White floating at the end of his "umbilical cord" used more of the already-low maneuvering fuel vital to keeping Gemini in position during the planned landing some four days from now.

Earlier, National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials "scrubbed" plans to rendezvous with the space booster that lifted Gemini into orbit, when it drifted too far away to meet economically in terms of fuel.

The space stroll had been postponed from the second orbit to the third, after the capsule's crew said the preparations and running down the checklist were too time-consuming to complete before the Gemini completed its swing across Mexico and the United States.

"We'll do it next time around," McDivitt told the Hawaii ground station more than 100 miles below the orbiting Gemini 4 spaceship.

"That's okay with us," replied Christopher Kraft Jr., mission director at Houston.

Earlier, McDivitt failed to approach close enough to the orbiting second stage for a rendezvous maneuver. With half the fuel for this job used up, he admitted, "we just can't close in on it."

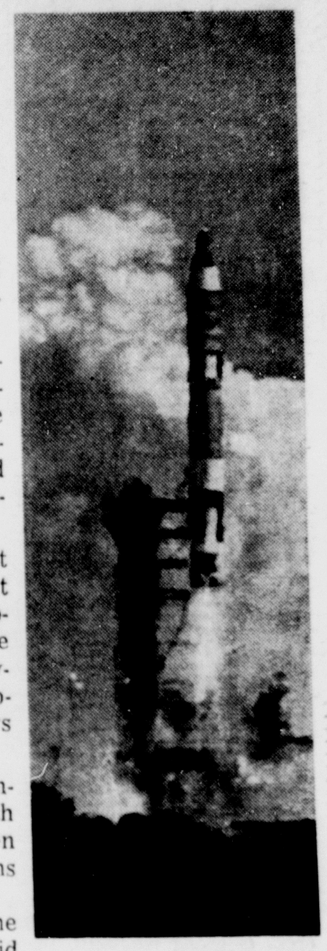

The tumbling rocket stage then was three to four miles away and Kraft ordered McDivitt to scrub that mission.

Despite the disappointments, it remained a thrilling flight for President Johnson, the families of the astronauts, and millions of other Americans who sat with eyes glued to television screens.

As the rocket thundered off the pad at Cape Kennedy at 10:16 a.m. EST, Johnson commented, "Our prayers will be with them until they return." He watched solemnly the first 10 minutes of the flight.

Man, Wife Found Shot To Death

Coroner Says Husband Kills Wife And Himself

A Larkspur man killed his sleeping wife with a single pistol shot in the back of the head early today, then thrust the weapon into his mouth and killed himself, according to investigators.

The victims were Robert St. John Orr, 63, and his wife, Gallia Eugene Orr, 55, of 65 Via Barranca.

Their son-in-law, Lloyd D. Harris of 900 Appleberry Drive, Marinwood, found Orr's body when he called at 8:15 a.m. today en route to work in San Francisco, reported County Coroner Frank J. Keaton.

Harris telephoned Larkspur police and firemen. On their arrival, they found Mrs. Orr's body, lying on a bed and covered with blankets.

Orr was general manager of Western Fire Equipment Co., San Francisco, for which Harris is a salesman.

WAS DEPRESSED

Harris told Keaton and Larkspur Police Chief Howard Clark that his father-in-law was much depressed when Harris drove him home from work yesterday. Orr had been forced to limit his workload after suffering a heart attack several months ago, and had been under a doctor's care since then.

Orr had expressed a desire to put his affairs in order in case he should die soon, Harris said.

Arriving at the Orr home this morning, Harris found the front door unlocked, he related. He walked in after ringing the doorbell. Calling his father-in-law's name, he failed to bring a reply.

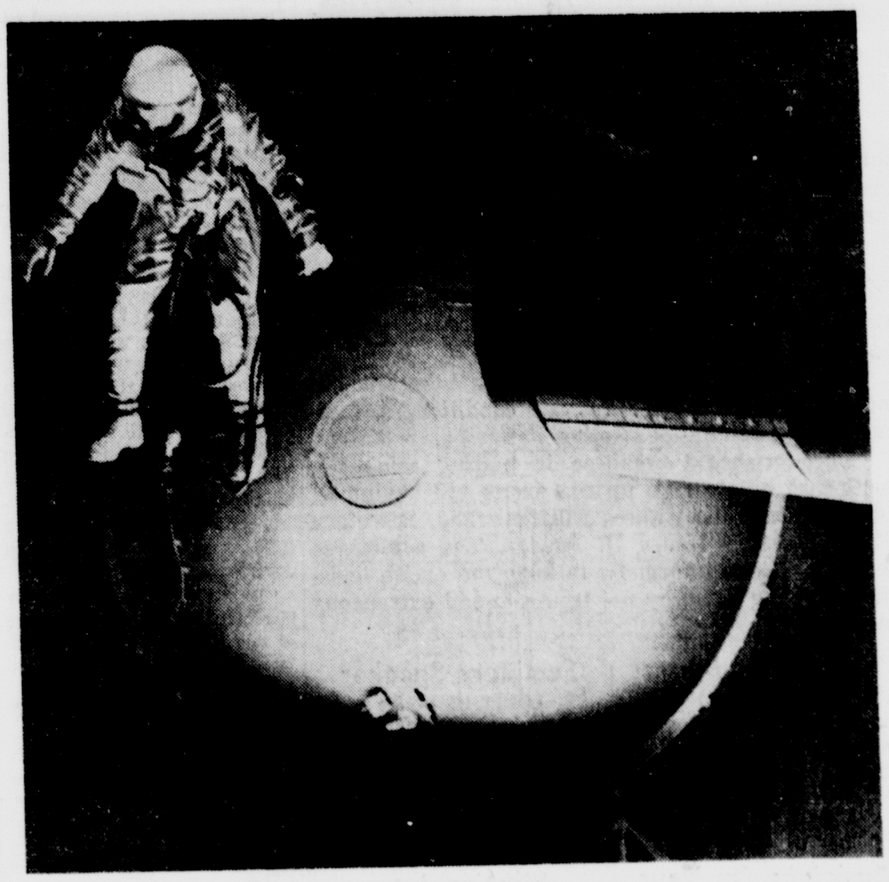

GUN NEAR HAND

Harris looked into the bedroom. He saw his father-in-law's body slumped across his bed, with a .38-caliber Colt Army Special revolver near his right hand.

Chief Clark said Harris was then unaware that his mother-in-law's body, covered with blankets, was in her own bed nearby. After calling police, he telephoned his wife, Mrs. Katherine Harris, to see if she knew her mother's whereabouts.

Arriving with other police and firemen, Clark found Mrs. Orr's body, a single gunshot wound in

Launch 'Seems Almost Unreal' To Astronaut's Watching Wife

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—"I'm thrilled to death," said Mrs. Edward H. White today after she watched her astronaut husband blasted off into space.

"It's a moment we've been waiting for," she said. "There's no describing how I feel."

Mrs. James A. McDivitt, wife of the command pilot of the space capsule, appeared awestruck as she watched Gemini 4 rise smoothly from its Cape Kennedy launch pad.

"This seems almost unreal," she said as she and her three children sat on the floor of a bedroom, their eyes glued to a television set.

"My daddy's in there," Mike McDivitt, 8, announced proudly as the rocket soared into space.

Astronaut White's young daughter, Bonnie Lynn, 9, said simply, "I'm proud of him." Her older brother, Edward III, 11, said, "It's great."

Mrs. White had calmly advised her husband to "have fun" not long before the giant rocket took him into space.

Both she and Mrs. McDivitt had awakened before dawn to receive final prelaunch telephone calls from their astronaut husbands at Cape Kennedy and then go through a big day in their lives.

Mrs. McDivitt and her three children had attended a special 5:30 a.m. Mass at nearby St. Paul's Roman Catholic church. They were the only worshippers.

Delinquent Tax List Out In Public Today

First of three publications of the Marin County delinquent tax list for 1965 appears starting on page 25 of today's Independent-Journal.

The list contains about 5,000 names, according to Joseph A. Coffrini, deputy in the office of Tax Collector Stanley J. Fontez.

Approximate total delinquency is nearly $1.5 million, Coffrini said. Highest in five years, the figure is largely made up of taxes not paid by investment and land development firms.

The list, which takes up six pages plus three columns on another page, will appear again next Thursday and June 17.

Gadget Checks Lightning Risk In Rendezvous

PASADENA (AP)—Scientists are hoping to learn something definite about the potential hazard of static electricity in space during the extended orbital flight this week of Gemini 4.

Space Agency officials are concerned that a real jolt is theoretically possible — that static electricity unleashed in future space docking maneuvers might carry with it the danger of a thunderbolt.

Aboard Gemini 4 is a static-seeking, one-pound instrument called an Electrostatic Potential Meter. Its mission is to determine whether the spacecraft can store an electrical charge of dangerous proportions.

The meter was designed and built by Electro-Optical Systems, Inc., of Pasadena.

William H. Foster, the firm's manager of advanced technology, offered this description of the experiment:

"If signals from the instrument show only a low-voltage buildup, electrostatic rendezvous worries would practically be eliminated.

"But a million volts from a positive charge on Gemini and an equal negative charge on its mating vehicle could mean real trouble."

Plane Crash Victims' Home Burglarized

The Peacock Gap home of a couple injured in a light plane crash in Oregon on Monday was burglarized of more than $1,600 in guns and other items sometime Monday or Tuesday.

Mrs. Dorothy Elliot, neighbor of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lynam, who escaped serious injury when their private plane slammed into trees bordering an airstrip at McKenzie Bridge, Ore., reported the burglary yesterday.

The living quarters and den of the house at 51, San Marino Drive had been ransacked and four rifles with scopes and two shotguns were reported missing by Mrs. Elliot.

She told San Rafael Police Patrolman Gerald Souza that she cound not tell what else might be missing.

Patrolman Souza said the burglars evidently found a key to the gate which bars the backyard of the home. The home itself was unlocked.

Mrs. Elliot, who lives at 55 San Marino Drive, told him the key had been hidden near the gate. She alerted police after finding the key in the gate lock.

The Lynams, who are scheduled to return home soon, were on a fishing trip on the McKenzie River when the crash occured.

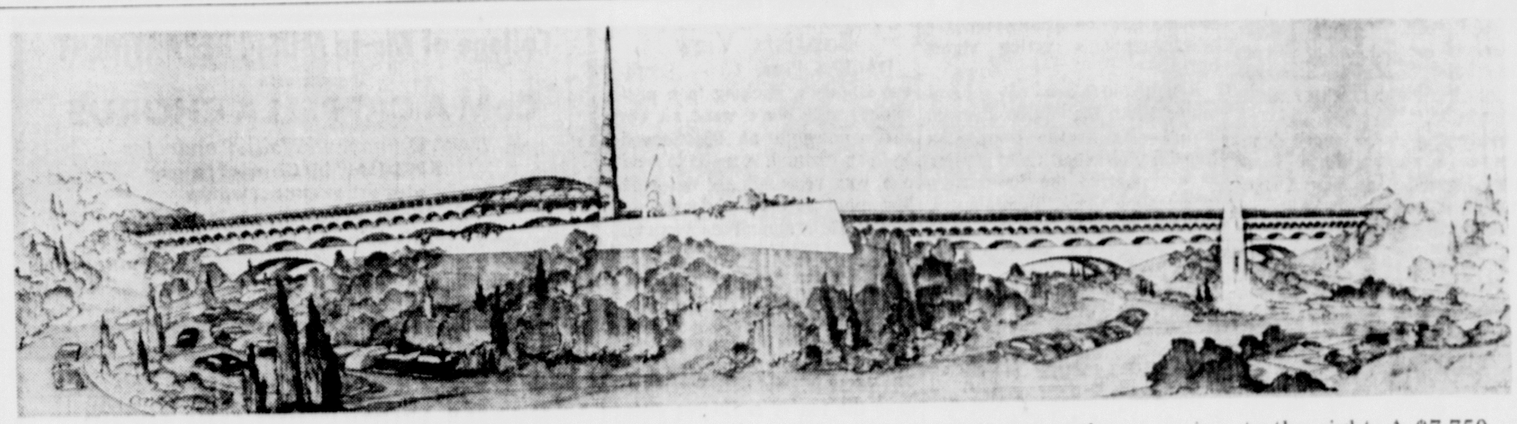

Lynam was treated for a ankle and a fractured nose. His wife, Glenell, was cut and bruised in the crash.

Lynam is executive chef for the Spinnaker restuarant in Sausalito and Tarantino's at Fisherman's Warf, San Francisco.

WHAT BONDS WOULD FINANCE—This architect's drawing shows how the Marin County Civic Center will look when a Hall of Justice wing is added. The present administration wing is to the left of the tall tower; the new wing, to the right. A $7,750,000 bond issue to finance the addition will be before voters next Tuesday. The present structure was financed from taxes.

Voters To Decide On Center Bonds

On Tuesday, Marin County voters will decide if sale of general obligation bonds will be the method used to finance most of the cost of the proposed $11,756,000 hall of justice addition to the Civic Center.

County supervisors have asked approval of $7,750,000 in bonds. This would be added to $2,075,000 raised through allocation from taxes during the past three years, $150,000 to be raised through taxes in the next fiscal year, $1,410,000 expected from sale of the present courthouse in downtown San Rafael and $750,000 expected in federal and state funds would complete the financing of the project.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. The bond measure will require a two-thirds majority to pass.

The bond measure represents a departure from th pay-as-you-go policy used to finance construction of the administration building at the Civic Center.

This was accomplished over a five-year period with an average tax of 40 cents per $100 assessed valuation. Tax allocations continued after completion of the administration building in fiscal 1963, but so far only $2,075,000 has been raised toward the $11,756,000 Hall of Justice.

Tax rate for the addition this fiscal year was 20.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Supervisors figure that it would require an average tax rate of 57 cents during the next three years to finance the building by 1968.

Bagley's Appraiser Bill Passes To Floor

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A last-minute vote switch and joint Republican - Democratic maneuvering have nudged onto the Assembly floor a bill abolishing California's controversial inheritance tax appraisers.

The measure opposed by Democratic State Controller Alan Cranston squeaked out of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee last night on an 11-8 vote—the bare majority needed.

Earlier in the day, the Senate voted its version of Cranston's proposal and sent it to the lower house. Appointment of the 150 appraisers by the controller is regarded as the last big political patronage plum in California.

Assemblyman William Bagley, R-San Rafael, carried the measure opposed by Cranston. It would eliminate the appraisers, and instead change to a system of self-appraising by survivors of a dead person. They would assess the estate, somewhat similar to income tax, and the State Board of Equalization would collect the inheritance tax due.

Negro Deputy Is Killed; White Man Held In Murder

BOGALUSA, La. (AP) — A Negro deputy sheriff was killed and his squad car companion wounded in a highway ambush near this racial hot spot late last night.

Deputy O'Neal Moore was shot in the head. Creed Rogers, also a Negro, was wounded. Both were riding in the sheriff's car along a highway seven miles north of Bogalusa.

A white man was arrested in Tylertown, Miss., about 20 miles north of Bogalusa, shortly after the shooting and charges of murder were brought against him early today.

Sheriff J. C. Knippesr of Walthall County, Miss., said Ernis R. McElveen, 41, of Bogalusa, was held for Louisiana officers after being booked on a charge of murder. He refused to waive extradition.

Officers said the Negro deputies were shot from a truck which passed them near a community called Varnado, seven miles north of Bogalusa.

GOP Leaders Not Unanimous As LBJ Critics

Dirksen Opposes Idea Of Paris Delegation

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans hunting a formula to vitalize their minority role are running into difficulties in pinpointing issues on which to oppose President Johnson.

GOP members of Congress made it apparent in a barrage of announcements yesterday that they have wide differences of opinion among themselves on major international and domestic problems.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen illustrated this cleavage when he was informed that a group of four House Republicans would go to Paris June 11 to inquire into the strained relations between the United States and De Gaulle's France.

DIRKSEN DUBIOUS

"Are you kidding?" Dirksen asked reporters. "After all, we do have a State Department and we have a President who is supposed to conduct our foreign affairs." He added that such a delegation could cause an international incident if a member talked out of turn at an overseas news conference.

Dirksen was asked how he reconciled a statement by the GOP Policy Coordinating Committee that the Democratic administration "has yet to develop an adequate military program to counter the problem of Communist aggression in South Viet Nam" with general party support for the course Johnson is taking there.

"There is nothing else to support at this point," he replied.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, House minority leader, disclosed that the policy coordinating group — made up of Senate and House leaders, governors, former prsidential nominees and members of the national committee — had tossed back to congressional Republicans the hot-potato issue of state laws banning the union shop.

TAFT-HARTLEY ISSUE

Republicans are split over Johnson's request for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act provision which permits states to ban the union shop. Under a union-shop contract negotiated by a union and an employer, all employes covered by the contract must join the union.

The Senate leader said the coordinating group hadn't acted on a 12-page task force report which generally endorsed a House GOP substitute for the administration's voting rights bill.

Republicans are of several minds about the course Johnson is following in the Dominican Republic, although their leaders have supported the President's intervention there. Significantly, perhaps, Dirksen said this issue was not raised at all within the coordinating committee.

House Passes Excise-Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's excise-tax cut roared through the House by a 401-6 vote and the Senate doesn't plan to stand in its way.

The Senate is clearing the track for the bill that would lower prices on autos, air conditioners, cameras, watches and a lot of other items.

The Finance Committee is putting aside the health-care bill to take up the excise bill beginning Tuesday. Only one witness will be called, Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler. The committee members agreed informally to keep the excise legislation winging along by not trying to add extraneous amendments.

Johnson Urges Less Silver In U.S. Coins

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson recommended today that less silver be put into U.S. coins from now on to conserve the scarce metal.

Johnson made his recommendation to Congress in a message that would, if carried out:

Leave the penny and nickel unchanged—they contain no silver.

Provide for new dimes and quarters with no silver content. They have about 90 per cent silver now. The coins would have a copper core with an outside layer of a mixture of copper and nickel that would make them acceptable in vending machines rigged to reject slugs with no silver content.

Allow 40 per cent silver content, instead of 90, in a new half dollar.

Make no change in the old silver dollar — but continue the ban on coining the cartwheel.

The new coins will not come out until next year. Meantime, Johnson said that 300 million troy ounces—more than 10,000 tons—of silver will go into coinage this year. This is far more than the total free world output of silver expected for this year.

Johnson said silver is getting too scarce to keep on using it in coins on a large scale.

"To maintain unchanged our high silver coinage in the face of this stark reality," he said, "would only invite a chronic and growing scarcity of coins."

The President was especially emphatic on one point:

"I want to make it absolutely clear that these changes in our coinage will have no effect on the purchasing power of our coins...."

The "Try Seven" songleader group, headed by Dorene Wilson of Corte Madera, was elected to lead songs at games for the fall semester at the College of Marin in a run-off election yesterday, defeating the "Student Bodies" led by Donna Sullivan, Novato, 366-348.

The run-off was held because in the previous election the two groups tied in the balloting.

Dominican Coup On Junta Hinted

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — Diplomatic sources said today disgruntled members of Maj. Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera's junta regime may attempt to oust him from office.

Reports that Commodore Francisco Rivera Caminero, commander of the Dominican navy, already had attempted an anti-Imbert coup d'état were denied yesterday by Francisco J. Cardona, Imbert's Puerto Rican press secretary.

The diplomats said Imbert's consent to inter-American neutralization of the Dominican "White House" had caused deep dissension within the junta.

They said most of the high-ranking military officers on Imbert's staff objected to the neutralization because they had hoped to use the executive mansion as a basis for attack on the rebels.

The "White House," which junta forces wrested from the rebels during the fighting here, was cordoned off yesterday by Brazilian troops.

A token force of Imbert's troops remained in the building as a symbol of his claim to the premises, but the demilitarized zone created by the Brazilians effectively isolated it from the rebels.

Larkspur City Council Chided By Ex-Mayor

Ex-Mayor Lesly A. Daveler took the Larkspur City Council to task last night for not following through on matters that they brought before it more than a year ago.

Daveler reminded the council that in April, 1964, he proposed "orderly replacement of the city manager."

He said this didn't mean that he wanted to replace City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper, but wanted procedures established regarding the position.

Daveler also charged the council has been lax in "the Willow Avenue parking situation," which he said was referred to Piper last July.

He mentioned revising the city manager ordinance, the Larkspur-Corte Madera merger, and his letter concerning the refuse ordinance.

Mayor Neil R. Brixon said: "You're surmising the pile of us have to agree with you. Possibly we don't agree with you."

Marin Study Center Group Lists Needs

Some 40 volunteers who helped conduct the Red Cross-sponsored Marin Study Center this school year held an evaluation meeting Tuesday and concluded they need more books, field trips, special plays and film showings and a quiet place to study.

Held for pupils of Manzanita and Richardson Bay schools in the Sausalito School District this year, the after-school program is to be expanded to other parts of the county.

Bridge Committee Seeking Second-Crossing Measure

The legislation committee of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District decided today to ask Assembly William T. Bagley to carry the ball on second crossing legislation.

Lowell Edington of Napa, chairman of the legislation committee, reported several bills have been introduced calling for a study of a second crossing between Marin and San Francisco.

One of them is SB117 by San Francisco Sen. J. Eugene McAteer. This bill does not specifically authorize the bridge district to build a new crossing, Edington explained, but allows the district to study a second crossing.

SB 905, by Sen. Randolph Collier of Yreka is more sweeping. Edington said this has aroused so much opposition in San Francisco that Collier has been unable to push it.

The committee decided to ask Bagley to take the provisions of SB905 and incorporate them into AB3363. That is Bagley's spot bill which can be used to carry legislation on second crossings.

The bridge directors want Bagley to provide for the bridge district to study and build another crossing and to call for revenue bonds to finance such a structure.

General manager James Adam said the directors may ask Bagley to restrict the district's powers so that a tax can not be levied without the people's approval.

A tax levy proposal in Senator Collier's SB905 was one of the points objected to in San Francisco.

The legislation committee also decided to ask Gov. Edmund G. Brown for a conference to clarify the purposes of the various bills introduced on a second crossing.

her head. There were powder burns on the pillow.

Clark and Keaton said Orr apparently shot his wife and took his own life sometime early today. Neither would fix the time of death precisely, but Clark noted that the bodies were still warm when found.

Police said Mrs. Orr was wearing pajamas; her husband was clad only in shorts.

Three shots had been fired from the revolver, Keaton said. It apparently misfired once.

Orr was a native of New York, coming to California as a small child. He founded the fire equipment company 45 years ago.

Mrs. Orr was born in China and came to California about 1927. They lived in San Francisco until moving to the Greenbrae section of Larkspur three years ago.

Surviving are their daughter and three grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are pending.

Its author, Sen. Frank S.Petersen, D-Ukiah, said it would be known as the Frank W. Reynolds Memorial Grove after the late Mendocino County official whose widow now owns most of the land.

Four Boys Guilty In San Francisco Teen-Age Murder

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Four teen-age boys have been committed to the California Youth Authority after being found guilty of murder in the death of Rodney Garcia, 16, last April 19.

Juvenile Court Judge William Auslen ordered the four turned over to the CYA, which will determine their sentences.

Convicted of the fatal shooting were Glen Caldwell, 15, who admitted he fired the fatal shots; Anthony Crump, 15; and twins Billy and Bobby Sisk, 16.

Two older Sisk brothers involved in the shooting, Donald, 18, and Vernon, 20, are in city prison awaiting trial.

Airman, Wife Hurt In Crash

Air Force Capt. Jerry J. Dardan, 35, of Fairfield, and his wife, Margaret, were injured last night when their car spun out of a turn on Shoreline Highway and rolled over.

Mrs. Darden was in "satisfactory" condition today at Letterman General Hospital with a head injury and cuts. Dardan was treated for scrapes and cuts at Marin General Hospital.

California highway patrolmen reported the accident happened one and one-half miles north of the Muir Woods Road at 9 p.m.

Sausalito's Planners Back Bonds Ballot

Sausalito planning commissioners last night voted to support the $7,750,000 bond issue to finance the second stage of the Civic Center.

Commissioners granted Charles F. Lindsay a seven-lot subdivision at Glen Drive and Santa Rosa Avenue. They recommended to city council that the proposed draft of an interim use permit ordinance sought by A. G. Schoonmaker Co. for continued use of the sandspit for sand and gravel business not be considered.

SPACE

a perfect orbital path was "beautiful! beautiful!"

The astronauts still felt fine and were in good spirits.

The first lustre was rubbed off the dazzling flight when McDivitt reported that he was using an excessive amount of fuel in his attempt to catch up with the rocket stage.

McDivett and White originally planned to approach within 25 feet of the orbiting booster and White was to emerge and move close to it.

The possibility that he would actually put his hand on it was ruled out early in the mission when it was learned that it was tumbling excessively and thus was a possible threat to White.

McDivitt used 50 per cent of his fuel in maneuvering toward the Titan stage, but said he still was three to four miles away and "we just can't close on it."

"Save the fuel. We're more concerned about the lifetime (of the mission) than closing with that booster. Let's scrub it."

The Gemini 4 carried enough fuel to make maneuvers totaling 245 miles. In his vain attempts to catch the booster during the first orbit, McDivitt used up 109 miles of this capability.

The failure to rendezvous with the booster indicated that more work needs to be done before U.S. attempts to hook up satellites in maneuvers planned on Gemini flights late this year.

A link-up had been scheduled next October with a Gemini craft piloted by astronauts Walter Schirra and Tom Stafford.

The introduction of the rendezvous maneuver for today's flight plan was a late decision. It was made after astronauts Virgil Grissom and John Young demonstrated the maneuverability of the Gemini craft on a March 23 flight.

It was the start of America's longest attempted manned flight yet — an endurance mission scheduled to end about 12:06 p.m. EST next Monday after 62 circuits of the globe in 97 hours, 50 minutes.

The launching was delayed 1 hour, 16 minutes because of a balky launch pad service tower that would not fold down from the rocket due to an electrical malfunction.

Despite the excitement attached to the rendezvous and space excursion maneuvers, mission director Christopher C. Kraft Jr., said the main goal of the flight was to determine how well men and spacecraft systems can withstand a long exposure to the space environment.

The flight, if carried to completion, would eclipse the present American record of 34 hours, 20 minutes established in May 1963 by astronaut Gordon Cooper.

A Russian cosmonaut, Valeri Bykovsky, holds the record of 119 hours, 6 minutes.

Buffalo Cow Still Missing In Nicasio

The buffalo named Angelina was still missing today from rangelands behind Rancho Nicasio, according to Glen Kerch, co-owner.

Kerch and Nick Kobseff, who also own a second buffalo, said Angelina has been missing since about May 22. They are offering $100 reward for information leading to arrest and conviction of whoever stole the 3-year-old cow.

Millmen's Pickets Continue

Pickets continued to march today in front of Marin County lumber and mill firms after negotiations into the early hours failed to end a six-county labor dispute between the Millmen's Union and the employers.

The millmen's strike and lockout by members of the Lumber and Mill Employers Assn. has closed 100 Bay Area mills. Nearly seven hours of discussion in San Jose on a modified wage proposal by the union ended at 2:20 a.m. when employers declared there was no point in meeting further.

Involved in the dispute in Marin are Mission Wood Products in San Rafael, Fairfax Lumber Co., Kent Manufacturing Co. in Corte Madera, Larkspur Lumber Co., and some independent firms not members of the employers' association. About 50 members of the Marin local have been off the job because of the strike and lockout.

Anniversary Kiss Given Atop Tower

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Claes Wyckoff, who likes to surprise his wife on special occasions, came up with one to top them all for their 30th wedding anniversary.

Wyckoff, 54, owner of a San Francisco advertising agency, gave Lucina, 50, an aninversary kiss yesterday on top of one of the towers of the Golden Gate Bridge, more than 750 feet above San Francisoc Bay.

He made the arrangements through Ben Lerer, an old friend and a director of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District.

The couple's special sedan was escorted from the toll plaza to the tower by a tow car with flashing red lights. They took a tiny elevator up 746 feet to the top of the tower and climbed a vertical ladder another 21 rungs to the peak.

"We're on top of the world, honey," Wyckoff said. "I just wanted something special to celebrate 30 beautiful years full of surprises."

Crash Victim, 16, Home From Hospital

John H. Davis Jr. was home with his parents at 150 Madrone Avenue, Belvedere, today after having been hospitalized for a month after a car accident April 30.

Davis, 16, a Redwood High School Junior, was in a car which went off the Tennessee Valley Road April 30. He suffered head inpuries and was in Marin General Hospital until yesterday.

Oregon Car Found On Gate Bridge

A 1955 Chevrolet car with Oregon license plates was found stopped in southbound lanes of the Golden Gate Bridge at 4:05 a.m. today, its engine running.

No one was seen jumping from the bridge and no body was found this morning. California highway patrolmen were checking to learn who owns the car.

FAMILIES

Mission Control Center during the scheduled four-day flight. Both live only a short distance from the Manned Spacecraft Center, training base for the nation's space team.

Mrs. Virgil I. Grissom and Mrs. John W. Young became the first astronaut wives to leave their homes when they visited the space-flight nerve center March 23 while thier husbands were on the first manned Gemini flight.

At Jackson, Mich., "Oh, how beautiful. I knew our Jimmy was up there. It wasn't just a piece of equipment," the mother of space pilot James A. McDivitt remarked just after watching her son blast off today.

"It was such a beautiful shot our anxieties were somewhat relieved right away," said the astronaut's father, James A. McDivitt Sr.

The McDivitts said their most difficult moment came when the countdown was delayed.

"I thought we might have to go through all this again tomorrow," said the astronaut's mother, "and that maybe the weather would be bad tomorrow."

The parents had watched the 10:16 a.m. blastoff on three television sets—a safeguard against a set failure.

Effort To Put New Teeth In Brown Act Fails

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly overwhelmingly voted down today an effort to put new teeth into the state's Brown Act, which requires public bodies to conduct most of their business in public.

By a 45-18 margin, the lower house rejected a bill by Assemblyman Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, that would have prohibited members of public agencies from deliberating issues in private.

Petris said the measure was needed because the courts have held that the Brown Act, passed in 1953, does not forbid such meetings when no action was taken.

Driver Knocked From Motorcycle

Steven A. Zahniser, 19, of 45 Bayo Vista Way, San Rafael, was in Marin General Hospital today in fair condition with back and head injuries suffered when he was knocked from his motorcycle yesterday by a car.

California highway patrolmen reported a car driven by Lester J. Long, 20, of 662 Olive Street, Novato, struck the Zahniser motorcycle from the rear and Zahniser was thrown onto the hood of the car.

Both vehicles were heading south on College Avenue near Stadium Way in Kentfield when the collision occurred at 10:25 A.M.

Marinites who choose Mount Tamalpais do so with the assurance that its beauty will grow with the years. The interest from a quarter-million dollar endowment fund—twice the legal requirement—is dedicated to the constant care and improvement of this 57-acre site.

Perhaps—like many Marin families—you wish to make your own final arrangements to spare others difficult decisions. If so, we invite your inquiry or a personal visit.

WELFARE IN MARIN

County Budget Going Up On Help For Needy

By RICHARD LYTTLE
(Last of a Series

Welfare this year has taken up 34.8 per cent of the Marin County budget. In fiscal 1966, if the recommendations of County Administrator Alan Bruce are followed, it will take 36.4 per cent of the total budget.

It will mean an incdrease in the welfare budget of 17.6 per cent. And Bruce's recommendations involve some cuts, which Betty L. Presley, director of the Department of Public Services (welfare), believes are too severe.

The costs of the department for this fiscal year will total $5,923,003, with $4,432,192 from state and federal funds and $1,490,811 from county taxes.

Bruce recommends a fiscal 1966 budget of $7,170,917 with $5,565,628 in federal and state money and $1,605,289 in county taxes.

Miss Presley's requests for the next fiscal year would make a total $7,910,316 budget with $5,986,371 in federal and state funds and $1,923,945 in local taxes.

The difference of $739,399 between Miss Presley's request and Bruce's recommendation lies in the proposed deletion of all supplemental pay and expanding the case load in Old Age Security Cases and Medical Aid to the Aged.

The federal standard calls for no more than 60 cases per worker on "priority need" cases. Bruce says the standard is not compulsory and a tightening of the definition of "priority need" will allow a smaller staff increase than asked by Miss Presley.

The department, with 124 now on the staff, would increase to 131 under Bruce's recommendation, rather than to 152 as asked by Miss Presley.

Deleting the county supplement which is added to the state base allotment each month would affect the Aid to Families with Dependent Children category.

About 48 per cent of the county cases in this program receive supplemental pay. Under Bruce's plan, aid to a family with two adults and a high-school-age child where a parent is unemployed, would be reduced from $230 to $176 per month.

Miss Presley is particularly concerned about deletion of supplemental payments and will recommend against it when her budget comes before the board of supervisors next Wednesday.

She has already received backing from the board of supervisors for a request that the state provide all or some of the supplement pay.

In another cost-cutting attempt, Miss Presley has appeared before the director of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Washington, D.C., to protest against increasing complexities of reporting on welfare cases.

These requirements have forced increases in county welfare staffs throughout the country just to put out reports and answer queries.

Miss Presley has said most of her testimony before supervisors next week will be on the need to retain the supplements. She believes that is far more important than trying to retain the case load standard.

The state base pay for a family of one parent and three children is $215. For a family of one mother, a teen-age boy and girl, and a child under 12, the county now adds $64 a month. Miss Presley sees dire results in doing away with this supplement.

She predicts an increase in school drop-outs and an increase in thefts.

It is difficult to predict how the board of supervisors will resolve the difference between Miss Presley's request and Bruce's recommendations.

However, Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen has already said he will suggest a compromise, retaining part of the supplemental pay.

For two months, Kettenhofen has met once a week with Miss Presley, seeking explanation of the operation of her department, and recently studying the question of supplements.

"I don't believe we can do away with all the supplemental pay," Kettenhofen said.

Bruce, however, argues that the ever-rising welfare cost and consequent rise in taxes is a factor forcing some Marin citizens onto the walfare rolls, thus creating an "upward spiral."

Larkspur Approves Retirement Center

After differing sharply about parking spaces, the Larkspur City Council last night approved plans for the proposed 12-story Tamalpais Retirement Center on the south side of Bon Air Hill, off Via Holon.

The council granted architectural approval by 4-1 vote, with Councilman Robert J. Smith dissenting.

Smith contended that the 282 parking spaces shown in the original plan should be provided.

"This will be a place where people will be invited and it will create a traffic problem if parking is sub-standard," he said.

The council had before it a plan providing 172 parking spaces for employees in a separate area.

Councilman Vaughn M. Parker contended the area under the building would accommodate only 145 cars.

Councilman Earl J. O'Grady said, "I can see 163 spots with attendant parking."

The council finally agreed to permit 145 parking spaces under the building with attendant parking, 38 outside employee spaces, and a restriction that no adjacent property be acquired for resident parking.

Dr. John C. Siemens, head of Valley Investment Co., developers of the retirement center, was granted a nine-month extension of the July 15 starting date for the project. The center is to have 282 living units and a 55-bed convalescent hospital.

The center plans include a beauty shop, barber shop and a notions shop, which Mayor Neil R. Brixon said would not be competitive with other Larkspur stores.

Councilmen introduced an amendment to the zoning ordinance which would require 10,000, 15,000 and 20,000 square-foot lots in hillside areas, now zoned for 7,500 square feet.

When Marker asked why the council was not considering a special slope policy Planning Commissioner Robert H. Lee said the planning commission is considering a planned unit zone to handle slope development.

The council appointed E. Paul Atkins of 9 Olive Avenue to the planning commission to succeed William P. Schnell, who resigned after four years on the commission because a change of job will prevent him from attending sessions.

Atkins was appointed both to fill out Schnell's unexpired term until the end of June and to a four-year term starting July 1.

The Larkspur City Council Also:

1. Re-appointed Mrs. Robert Bowen and Mrs. Frederick Brenlin to the Larkspur Library Board for three-year terms starting July 1.

2. Granted San Rafael Taxi Cabs Inc. a license to operate in Larkspur and station two cabs there, with rates at 60 cents minimum, 90 cents for the first mile and 10 cents for each fifth of a mile additional.

3. Introduced an ordinance amendment rezoning a two-acre parcel south of Bon Air Road and west of the Corte Madera Creek Bridge from residential to commercial, as requested by Mosk Realty Co.

4. Approved removal of "six or seven" acacia trees on city right-of-way at 5 Cedar Avenue at request of F. L. Nightingale.

5. Notified Leland Rose, owner of a house at 52 Millard Road, that building code and health and fire violations must be corrected.

6. Agreed to proceed with widening Redwood Avenue at Madrone, confining the widening to the city right-of-way at a cost not to exceed $4,000.

7. Agreed to rent city land on Magnolia Avenue at Arch Street to Hil Probert Motors for parking of used cars at $20 a month.

8. Adjourned until next Thursday at 8 p.m. at city hall for joint session with the planning commission to discuss the general plan.

Rec Director Might Get Larkspur Job

Robert C. Bundy, who has submitted his resignation as recreation director for the Larkspur-Corte Madera Joint Recreation Commission, may wind up working for the City of Larkspur.

Councilman Robert J. Smith proposed to the Larkspur City Council last night that Larkspur hire Bundy, who has resigned effective June 30.

He suggested Bundy could direct a recreation program for Larkspur, assist the police department in juvenile work, and aid City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper in some duties.

Smith said he did not think a joint recreation commission is practical.

Piper said the city has $11,000 for recreation in its proposed fiscal 1966 budget, and hiring Bundy would not change this amount.

Smith suggested Bundy could provide recreation services to Corte Madera on a contract basis so the two cities would continue a "joint relationship."

Councilmen agreed that the proposal should be discussed with the Corte Madera Town Council before any action is taken.

Stolen Jeep Parts Tossed Into Lake

Parts of a jeep-type auto found in 30 feet of water near Alpine Dam have been tentatively identified as coming from a Toyopet reported stolen Jan. 11 from Hil Probert Motors, 250 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur.

Patrolman Charles Mattos and reserve officer Gilbert Dubuc of Larkspur police went to the lake late Tuesday and found the jeep had been cut apart with a blowtorch and that all moving parts, including motor, transmission and wheels, were missing. Also missing was the part of the frame containing the serial number.

The vehicle was sighted Monday by workers of Marin Municipal Water District.

Planners Question Legal Limitations

Four Marin County planning commissioners met with County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney Tuesday night to get general information on legal limitations and powers of zoning and related planning controls.

The session was requested by new commission member Hugh L. Dougherty. Other commissioners attending were Eugene R. Trombley, Felix M. Warburg and William F. Upton.

Bridge Meeting

Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District directors will meet at Napa County Courthouse June 11 at 10:30 a.m. The following Friday, June 18, the district's finance committee will consider the fiscal 1966 budget at a 10 a.m. meeting in the administration building at the bridge toll plaza in San Francisco. Original date for the finance meeting was June 21.

Larkspur Council Backs Hall Of Justice Bonds

The Larkspur City Council last night endorsed the county's $7,750,000 bond issue for construction of the Hall of Justice at the Civic Center, which will go to the voters Tuesday.

The council action came after Supervisor Thomas T. Storer explained the need for the Hall of Justice and the methods of financing.

He pointed out that supervisors had pledged to cut the tax rate by from one to five cents if the bond issue is approved.

When asked how long the tax rate cut would last, Storer said, "I can't say, but to be in good faith, it should be two or three years."

During the discussion, Mayor Neil R. Brixon told Storer the council was shocked at the supervisors' proposal for a countywide flood control district.

City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper told the council he had notified Assemblyman William T. Bagley of Larkspur's opposition to the flood control district.

Piper pointed out that Larkspur has not taken a stand against joining the proposed Corte Madera Flood Control District, but wants more information.

Extra living space can be found at your home if it has an attic that can be finished.

LOOK OUT FOR THE BACKLASH, DOC!

W. P. (Doc) Duhamel and Ralph B. Priestley drove out a 1914 model Ford yesterday to publicize the Kiwanis Rodeo. Everything went fine as they toured downtown streets in San Rafael until—as Fords of that vintage so often did—the car "died." In case the younger generation wonders what "Doc" is doing, he's cranking it. That's the way you started 1914 Fords. Priestly, like any experienced Model T driver, is working the spark while Duhamel spins the crank. All turned out well, with no broken arm for the cranker. The rodeo, by the way, will be Sunday starting at 1 p.m. at the Circle V Ranch above Fairfax.

BALKY BULLS LOCKED UP IN SAN QUENTIN

Two Angus bulls were incarcerated at San Quentin Prison last night after they lumbered up to the west gate and refused to move.

Prison Sgt. F. P. Gaspar, who greeted the four-footed visitors at the gate, ordered them taken inside the prison walls, fearing they would block traffic and cause an accident.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park today was trying to find someone to claim and pick up the bulls.

"The bulls look like they are going to be reluctant to leave," Park said.

Bobolinks and meadowlarks sing their courting song on the wing, but other species perform the springtime ritual on the ground or on a perch.

Larkspur Handed Plan For Roads

Larkspur City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper last night handed the city council a 10-year road building program slated to cost about $627,000 the first six years.

Major projects include widening of part of Magnolia Avenue, building a new street to bypass the Larkspur center area, and, eventually, construction of a new bridge across Corte Madera Creek.

Councilman Vaughn M. Marker complimented Piper for submitting an "excellent report," and said the program "looks financially sound."

The council, which had a full agenda, did not discuss details of the program.

Piper said the program can be financed with city funds with the help of the new state gasoline tax aid and with some help from Marin County in the urban throughfare program.

He said he did not try to guess costs beyond the first six years, and cost estimates included were very sketchy.

In the first year, three major projects were included, all of which are in the proposed budget for fiscal 1966, They are extension of Doherty Drive past Redwood High School for a direct connection from downtown to Highway 101, to cost $38,500; signals for the Bon Air Road and Magnolia Avenue intersection, $15,000, and purchase of Northwestern Pacific Railroad right of way, $30,000.

The right of way purchase would allow first stage development of what will eventually be a four-lane road to Corte Madera, bypassing the old downtown area of Larkspur.

Construction of the first two lanes of that road would be in the following year, to cost $120,000. Also in 1967 would purchase of right of way for eventual widening of Magnolia Avenue, This widening, from Doherty Drive to Bon Air Road, to cost $65,000 is listed for fiscal 1965, along with purchase of right of way for the Madrone loop at $15,000.

The loop, to improve access to Madrone Canyon, had originally been proposed for this year, but engineering estimates pushed the cost far above expectations, and Piper has now proposed construction, for about $45,000, for the 1969 fiscal year.

Also in that year would be the $42,000 job of widening Magnolia Avenue to four lanes from Dartmouth to Murray avenues.

Further widening of Magnolia Avenue, to cost $105,000 would be done from 1969 through 1971.

A bridge connecting South Elipso Drive with Rivera Circle across Corte Madera Creek was set for 1972 fiscal year, but no price was given. Piper guessed, however, when asked, that the project might cost as much as $240,000.

Other major road pobs in the final years would be widening of Bon Air Road to four lanes, a connection over steep terrain from Madrone Avenue to Baltimore Avenue, and a new road along the Northwestern Pacific right of way from Baltimore Avenue to Highway 101.

Also included in the program were funds for repairs and improvements to major secondary streets.

Bike Riders Wrong

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Statistics show that in traffic accidents involving bicycles, the bicycle rider is at fault more often than operators of other vehicles.

Soviet Press Mum On Space Shot Plan

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union, which does not announce its space shots in advance, ignored U.S. preparations for the Gemini launching today.

The only mention of space in the Communist press today was a brief item saying the Senate in Washington approved a bill allocating $5.2 billion for space exploration. There was no comment.

Defense Cost Cuts Planned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara plans to strip $500 million worth of so-called "gold plating" from defense items.

The secretary, in announcing the plans yesterday, said millions of items bought by the Defense Department are of higher quality than necessary.

Among examples of such cost reductions in the past are the saving of $108,000 by using thinner paper for marksmanship targets, $100,000 by changing the type of metal used for dogtags and $50,000 by changing green and yellow tripwires to green only.

Seal-Naming Deadline Due; Any Ideas?

What's a good name for a seal?

At least 500 persons have suggestions, and have sent in entries to date for the seal-naming contest at the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum in San Rafael.

The deadline for submitting names for the two new young seals at the museum is 5 p.m. tomorrow. Both male and female names are acceptable in the contest.

Entries have poured in since the contest was announced last Friday, reported Clara Evans, acting director. Winning names will be judged by the staff and announced at 4 p.m. Sunday at the museum's 10th anniversary party.

First prize is a five-gallon aquarium; second prize, a transistor radio, and third prize, a dissecting kit.

Refreshments and balloons for the children will be a feature of the anniversary open house Sunday. Visitors may see the new seals, two new fawns and the newly remodeled reptile room.

Man Thrown Out Of Auto

Leon Kramer, 43, of Fairfax, was thrown out of his car last night as it rolled over on a curve of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Today he was in Napa State Hospital, after treatment for cuts and scrapes at Marin General Hospital and San Rafael General Hospital, where he became violent. San Rafael police were called to control Kramer, San Rafael General Hospital authorities said.

Kramer was driving east on the road at 11:30 p.m. when his car skidded on a curve three-tenths of a mile east of San Geronimo Valley Road, spun and rolled over, highway patrolmen reported.

Ruby is the stone for a 40th anniversary.

Voters To Decide On Hall Of Justice Bonds

Behr has stated firmly that he would never approve such a high tax.

How about spreading the pay-as-you-go program over a longer period?

One objection to this is that building costs go up about 5 per cent every year. Each year of delay adds another half million dollars to the cost.

Another objection is that the addition is needed as soon as possible because of crowding at the courthouse.

Even if the bond issue is passed and the hall of justice is completed in 1968, County Administrator Alan Bruce expects that another court room will have to be squeezed into the courthouse in the meantime. There are now four superior courts and three municipal courts in the downtown building. Bruce says part of the probation office will have to be taken for a fourth municipal court and the probation department will have to seek temporary rental quarters before the hall of justice is finished.

According to Bruce, county office needs now total 230,000 square feet. He says there are only 150,000 square feet available now in both courthouse and Civic Center administration building.

By 1970, the county will require 280,000 square feet, Bruce estimates.

The hall of justice addition would provide 299,000 gross square footage of floor space, with 268,000 square feet of usable floor space.

The addition, to be 150 feet long and 112 feet wide, would connect to the northern end of the administration building and extend to the northwest.

It would provide 10 court rooms by 1970, and through removal of partitions and reallocation of space, 18 courtrooms by 1990.

Re-allocation of space would be made possible by shifting of offices to other buildings as they are completed at the Civic Center complex.

In addition to municipal and superior courts, those to be initially housed in the addition are the district attorney's office, sheriff's department, jail, recorder, probation department, public defender, health department and department of public social services (welfare).

If the bonds should be approved, it will mean that a nine-cent tax rate, rather than the current 20.5 cent tax rate will be needed for hall of justice financing. This is assuming 25-year bonds. By fiscal 1976 the rate for bond interest and retirement could drop to five cents, with continuing reductions until it drops to 2.4 cents in fiscal 1990, the final year of payment.

Some have suggested the board of supervisors should pledge an 11.5-cent tax reduction if the bond issue passes, instead of the one-to-five cent drop pledged Tuesday.

Bruce says this cannot be done because the county's general fund operations are increasing in cost. Also, he points to other capital projects, including road construction, which are putting pressure on the tax dollar.

If the bond issue should fail Tuesday, it does not mean the supervisors will give up the plan to construct the hall of justice.

Another possible means of financing is a lease-purchase method. This would be much more costly but might still get the job done in three years. It would not require a vote of the people.

Under this plan, a non-profit corporation would be formed to construct the building with a loan to the corporation that would be retired through rental paid by county government.

Financing would not be so cheap as general obligation bonds. Interest would be higher, and additional fees connected with the corporation would increase costs by $600,000 over cost of the bonds.

Comparing the three choices for financing, the owner of a $25,000 home would pay $32.78 in taxes for the Civic Center three years under a pay-as-you-go program. He would pay an overage of $5.75 per year for 25 years under the lease-purchase program, and an average of $5.18 per year for 25 years for the bond issue.

Muir Beach Budget Hike Is Expected

Fiscal 1966 budget of the Muir Beach Community Services District is expected to go above the current $6,525 budget with proposed purchase of a new tank and pump and possible explorations for a new well in Frank's Valley.

The board discussed the budget last night but did not arrive at a preliminary figure, reported president Jack F. Harris.

Tax Rate, now $1 per $100 assessed valuation, is expected to remain the same. The budget will be discussed again July 7.

Results in collecting money from water users who were in arrears in paying water bills were "very good" since the board threatened to shut off water if bills were not paid, Harris said. Of about 15 delinquents, all but six have paid.

Directors said they will enforce a by-law calling for penalties on bills which have not been paid in full within 30 days of posting.

Panel Suggests Larger Group To Study Salary

Marin County Grand Jury yesterday in special session recommended that the present two-man salary committee of the county board of supervisors should be expanded to five.

George R. Scott, foreman, said his panel felt this would give "broader representation" for the committee and the recommendation will be made to the board to include a committee member each from labor, private industry, and the Marin County Employees Assn.

If the board is receptive, he added, a suggested approach would be for the latter to request a recommendation of candidates from each of the three groups.

Present committee members are supervisors Byron W. Leydecker and Thomas T. Storer.

The jury panel also altered its May 12 recommendation for increase of salary of the district attorney's post to a new figure of $24,000 annually. Scott said reason for the change from the panel's earlier $23,000 recommendation was to make the salary comparable to the new increase of the county counsel's salary.

The latter was increased May 25 from $17,600 to $22,000, effective July 1. In two years, it will go to $24,000.

The district attorney's present salary is $16,500. The board of supervisors last Tuesday voted to ask that a bill now in the Legislature, to increase the salary to $23,000 per year starting in 1967 be amended to $24,000.

Salaries On Agenda At College

Teacher salaries, parking, library books and the concert and lecture series will all be before trustees of Marin Junior College District for their meeting at 8 p.m. today in room 24 of Harlan Hall at College of Marin.

Planning coordinator James Duke will present plans for more parking spaces near the campus for the expected influx of students in the fall.

The board will consider the budget and salaries after hearing a report comparing the average number of students per teacher in College of Marin and other Bay Area colleges.

A follow-up study of transfer students now at Sonoma State and San Francisco State colleges and University of California will be given to the board. Librarian Ward Blanchard will present a request for increased funds for purchase of library books, both for the present library and to start a collection for the Novato campus.

HAVE A HANGOVER FREE —IN AID OF SCIENCE?

Sausalito pharmacist Fred Mayer is looking for 100 tippling volunteers to gulp down five free stingers, all in the interest of science.

Mayer wants to test the hangover helper he invented, called Reprieve, which he produces and sells at his Sausalito Pharmacy, 701 Bridgeway.

Next week at a Sausalito saloon he wants to give 50 drinkers Reprieve while another 50 presumably will suffer the pangs of hangovers after taking pills which look like Reprieve but contain no medication. Doctors and nurses will be on hand to test blood pressure and coherence, Mayer said.

The only requirement for volunteering is that "you can't be a lush. You have to get a hangover when you drink."

Building Code Gets Discussion

Proposed amendments to the Marin County Building Code will go to the board of supervisors June 22 with no changes recommended.

The county board of appeals Tuesday discussed the amendment with representatives of home builders.

Biggest change in the proposal is an increase in building inspection fees to bring them more in line with other jurisdictions in the Bay Area, said Chief Building Inspector Hans J. Berge.

On a home valued at $25,000, for instance, the increase would be from $66 to $72. In some cases, when two-story construction or unusual design is involved, a plan checking fee would be added.

Speakers Disagree On U.N. Flag Role

The United Nations flag in Marin county schools today was defended as "educational" by a United World Federalist and criticized as "propaganda" by two John Birch Society members.

Heard on the Radio KTIM "Marin Sounding Board" were John J. Wiley, president of the Marin chapter of the UWF, and Birchers Charles Whiteaker and William Garry Woodward, along with Del Mar School Principal Robert Gaw.

There was no disagreement that school children should learn about the U.N., but speakers violently disagreed on methods.

Wiley called for flying the U.N. flag on special occasions, Whiteaker and Woodward want to keep the flag of the "communist-controlled UN" out of the schools.

The United World Federalists chapter recently donated UN flags to 33 schools in Marin.

"It was done to teach children about the UN, even if to just show what the flag looks like," Wiley declared.

Whiteaker and Woodward said a picture of the flag can be found in any encyclopedia. Having the flag in the school can "delude and confuse the children's allegiance," Woodward contended.

The Birch Society members said instruction regarding the United Nations should concentrate on pointing out differences between the United States Constitution, which limits government, and the U.N. charter, which limits individual freedoms. It should come from text books—not from "propaganda material from UNESCO, UNICEF and other organizations," they declared.

Gaw said state textbooks include U.N. study and are chosen by democratic process. Additional U.N. material coming from "interested parents" has the approval of school board, one of the "last vestiges of grassroots thinking," he said

"How can we teach patriotism without respecting democratic ideals of free speech and differences of opinion?" Gaw asked.

A listener inquired whether Alger Hiss's role in UN formation is included in textbook study. Gaw replied it was not in texts but could come up in classroom discussions.

He said his school has not flown the flag but uses it as a U.N. study aid.

Wiley said two schools—which he did not name—had flown the UN flag on special occasions, below the California Bear Flag or to the right of the U.S. flag. The UWF has been "swamped with orders," he added.

The program was taped for rebroadcast over KTIM at 12:30 p.m. on Sunday.

Park Changes Turned Down At Strawberry

Directors of the Strawberry Recreation District agreed to stick to the master plan for Strawberry Park last night after hearing suggestions that the Pony League field be eliminated to make way for slide, jungle gym, handball courts and golf driving range

The ideas came from David Neumann, whose property on Strawberry Drive adjoins the park and who has complained of baseballs landing in his yard.

Directors agreed to check the height of the net posts of the just-completed tennis courts before issuing a notice of completion to A. J. Bresnan Co. of San Rafael for the $10,908 construction job. Malott and Peterson-Grundy of San Francisco have completed topping the courts, directors heard.

The board will hold a public hearing at 8:30 p.m. June 23 at Strawberry Point School on the proposed $41,168 budget, and will sold a hearing on a request of Harbor Cove developers to dredge a channel off Strawberry Secretary Patricia Gowen reported.

Driver Fined $249

Marvin Richard Sanders, 20, San Bruno, was fined $249 yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. He was arrested on Highway 101 by California Highway Patrol on May 29.

Direct Rights Action Debated By Negroes

Direct action in the civil rights movement has made the people who can do something about discrimination conscious that "something must be wrong or all those people wouldn't be out there demonstrating," John F. Gardenhire, vice president of the Marin chapter, Congress of Racial Equality, declared last night.

Gardenhire and Oakland attorney Donald Warden, member of the Afro-American organization, debated "Goals and Methods of Civil Rights Movement" at a Sir Francis Drake High School meeting sponsored by the school's race relations committee. About 75 persons attended.

Warden said his organization is trying to instill self-respect in the Negro by tracing his cultural heritage back to the accomplishments of the Africans, and by self-help projects such as a Negro-operated clothing factory.

The Negro's problem is essentially one of motivation, Warden said, and he lacks self-respect because he has been told for so long that he is inferior.

Gardenhire felt the goal of the movement should be total integration, and an end to racial discrimination, "which diminishes the Negroes as human beings." The courts have been too slow in reaching decisions on civil rights, he said, so direct action is used because it is effective.

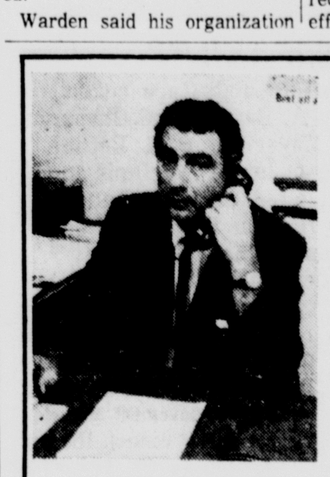

Young Demos Support Bonds

Marin Young Democrats Wednesday night unanimously adopted resolutions supporting the bill in Congress to permit the Atomic Energy Commission to run overhead power lines through Woodside and supporting the $7,750,000 Civic Center bond issue which will be decided by voters Tuesday.

The club adopted 12 to 1 a resolution to "commend Mayor (C. Paul) Bettini for his responsible action concerning the recent intemperate attacks by Councilman 'Bud' Baar against the faculty of San Rafael High School." Just what was meant was not explained.

The club, made up principally of high school students, met at the courthouse in San Rafael.

Deadline On Parade Tomorrow

Deadline for entries in the Novato Western Weekend parade is tomorrow, Paul Dock, parade chairman, said today.

"We have already received entries from about 100 groups, some for two or more of the 16 divisions in the parade," he said.

The parade will start at 11 a.m. June 19, the fourth day of the Western Weekend celebration, on its march down Grant Avenue.

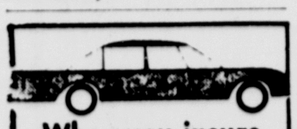

This year's divisions are floats, decorated autos, military, school and civilian bands, drum and bugle corps, drum corps, drill teams, bagpipe units, majorettes, drum majors, color guards, horseless carriages, novelty-comics, special awards, junior marching units, mounted divisions, and Shetland pony division.

Board Will Study Tax Relief Bills

Chairman Peter H. Behr of the Marin County Board of Supervisors has asked that all tax relief bills now before the state legislature be listed, with recommendations from the county staff, for consideration at the board meeting next Tuesday.

His action was in response to a letter received today from State Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

McCarthy asked the board of supervisors for specific guidance on the many bills that would offer some exemption or rebate of property taxes levied against the elderly.

60 Viet Troops Killed In Ambush

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong kept up its attack from ambush in central Viet Nam today, killing an estimated 60 government troops 215 miles northeast of Saigon.

A U.S. Army adviser was wounded in the ambush but a helicopter evacuated him with two other Americans who were uninjured.

A U.S. military spokesman said the Communist guerrillas attacked elements of a government battalion on the way to clear a road southeast of Cheo Reo village, in Phu Bon Province.

"The casualties are very heavy," the spokesman said.

Two U.S. Marine fliers were reported killed when their small scout plane crashed and burned nine miles northwest of Da Nang. This brought American deaths for the week to 12.

A helicopter flew to the site but crashed, injuring three U.S. Air Force crewmen.

A U.S. spokesman said government units estimated they killed 40 guerrillas in a search operation near Bac Lieu, in the Mekong Delta.

CITY'S BELATED 'GROUNDBREAKING'

Two mayors—present and previous—got in on the act yesterday as the San Rafael City Council symbolically broke ground for the new $1,031,800 city hall nearly a week after the contractor, Wright and Oretsky of Santa Rosa, had actually gone to work on the site. Wielding shovels (left to right) are councilmen Harry A. Barbier and Charles W. Aby, Mayor C. Paul Bettini, former mayor John F. McInnis and councilman Fred Jensen. Councilman Louis H. Baar was absent due to a business conflict.

Blithedale Guard Rails Hit Twice

Guard rails on East Blithedale extension in Mill Valley were broken through twice early today within a little more than an hour.

John Allen Ruef, 34 Meadow Drive, said police, was driving east on East Blithedale near Roque Moraes Drive at about 2 a.m. when a 1940 Ford coupe crossed the divider buttons from the oncoming lane, causing him to swerve to the right into the bank.

Ruef's car glanced off the bank, swerved left across both lanes and through the wooden barricade, tearing out 21 feet of rail and landed in a drainage ditch. Ruef said he had a back bruise but refused medical treatment.

At 12:13 a.m. Kenneth R. Hickman, 21, of 7 Brabo Terrace, was driving northeast on the same stretch of road near Purity store when his wheel went off the pavement, throwing the car out of control. His car crossed the divider and went through the guard rail. He was uninjured.

Tam Valley Proposes Playgrounds Purchase

Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club has taken an option to buy 10 acres at the mouth of Tennessee Valley, club president Joe Allen announced today.

Located seven-tenths of a mile from Marin Avenue and across the street from Oak Valley, the property has 1,800 feet of frontage on Tennessee Valley Road. It will be suitable for picnicking, soft ball, kite flying and, ultimately, a theater auditorium to serve southern Marin, said Allen. The recreation area can serve Tamalpais Valley families and future growth of Tennessee Valley, he declared.

The club has been without a headquarters since the Maple Street clubhouse was demolished last year to make way for the Coyote Creek flood control project. The club also owns about one and three-fourth acres of land near Bell Lane.

Allen said the club has been negotiating with George Goheen Jr. of Goheen Enterprises, and has a six-month option to buy. Price is just under $16,000, said Allen.

"We feel we have a chance to provide recreational facilities on the land, which would have been completely out of our capacity to purchase had it not been for Mr. Goheen's civic spirit and generosity," said the club president.

The site will be discussed by the club at its meeting at 8:30 p.m. today in the Community Church on Ash Street. The club plans a Fourth of July picnic on the site so everyone will have a chance to walk over it, Allen said.

Also on tonight's agenda is a discussion of a proposed tot yacht basin, a discussion on the special election June 8 on a $7,500,000 bond issue to finance the second stage of the Civic Center, Harold Stockstad speaking against and Supervisor Peter H. Behr favoring and there will be a talk on portrait photography by photographer Karel Bauer who lives in Tamalpais Valley.

HYDE, England (AP) — The girl who was shrunk by surgery steps nervously back into the world today.

At 5 feet 11 inches, Anne Rowston still is tall. But eight months and four operations ago she was 6 feet 7 — and couldn't find a boy friend to match.

Anne, 19, was cut down to size by removal of four inches of bone from each leg above the knee and 3½ inches below.

She will be on crutches for a month or two.

HERE ARE THE FACTS YOU NEED ON THE CIVIC CENTER BONDS FOR NEXT WEEK'S ELECTION

WHAT IS TO BE VOTED ON AT THE SPECIAL ELECTION JUNE 8th?

PROPOSITION "A" — the bond issue to complete the second major unit of the Civic Center. It will house the Courts, related law enforcement and correctional agencies, and ten other County departments now widely scattered in out-of-date buildings and offices.

The measure will provide for $7,750,000 in bonds to be added to the $2,000,000 in moneys already accumulated, with further income to be realized from the sale of the present Court House, and from State and Federal grants. These funds total $11,756,000, the cost of the new structure.

IS THE NEW WING NECESSARY?

The present Court House was built in 1872 for a countywide population of 7,500 people. The present jail is so old and so dangerous that it is about to be condemned by the State Fire Marshall, and the court rooms have already reached their capacity. Under a quirk in the law, any judge who does not have a court room can order the sheriff to build or rent forthwith whatever the judge needs.

WHAT DOLLAR ADVANTAGES DOES THE CIVIC CENTER OFFER MARIN TAXPAYERS?

In addition to the increased governmental efficiency resulting from properly housed offices, the Civic Center has become one of the principal attractions for dollar-spending tourists in Northern California. Already some 80,000 tourist-visitors a year come to see it. State Department officials indicate it ranks with Muir Woods among the places foreign visitors most ask to see in the Bay Area.

HOW DO CONSTRUCTION COSTS COMPARE?

The Sonoma County Court House now under construction is costing $2.00 more per square foot. The San Francisco Hall of Justice, generally recognized as "a triumph of architectural mediocrity", cost their taxpayers $10.00 more per square foot, based on today's construction costs, than Marin's new facility.

WILL THE CIVIC CENTER WING BE BUILT ANYWAY?

Yes! Every expert agrees this new wing is essential to meet current as well as future needs, and the Board of Supervisors have properly committed themselves to construct it. The real issue is not whether we build the building—the question is how we, as taxpayers, finance it.

WHAT ARE THE ALTERNATIVE METHODS?

1) The so-called "delay-and-pay-as-you-go" device. This would require waiting at least two years which itself would increase construction costs by over $1,000,000, due to inflationary trends in building costs. More significant, it would double the present tax rate for the Civic Center.

2) The "lease and lease-back" method. This intricate procedure would hike costs by an extra $600,000 . . . again wasting public funds.

3) The Proposition "A" bond approach. By contrast this enables immediate construction, thereby saving hundreds of thousands of dollars over the other methods—and without increasing the tax rate. Marin County has incurred no bonded indebtedness for forty years, and hence we are able to get the unusually low interest rate of 3.125 per cent or lower.

WILL FUTURE RESIDENTS PAY A PORTION OF THE COST?

Yes. One of the principal advantages of the bond method of financing is that it will require those who come to live in Marin County during the 25 years to pay their share of the cost of those facilities from which they too will benefit. They will pay about one-half of the costs.

WHO IS SUPPORTING PROPOSITION "A"?

City Councils, such as Belvedere, Corte Madera, Fairfax, Mill Valley, Novato, Sausalito, Tiburon, etc. Organizations, such as the Marin Development Foundation; the Marin Visitors Bureau; Marin Property Owners Association; San Rafael, Mill Valley, Sausalito, and other Chambers of Commerce; Marin Labor Council, etc. and all leading newspapers throughout the County.

WILL THE CIVIC CENTER BONDS INCREASE MY TAXES? NO!

The bond method of financing will not require any increase in taxes.

(The reason — the current tax rate now contains 20 cents which is allocated for the Civic Center. But only 9 cents will be needed to retire the bonds, and even this declines to 2½ cents over the 25-year life of the bonds. The result — the remaining 11 cents we are now paying is freed for other purposes such as roads, and could even result in a tax cut.)

By contrast, the so-called "delay and pay-as-you-go" method would increase the average homeowner's tax bill by over $25.00 a year.

County Park Commission Again Postpones Bolinas Lagoon Action

By RICHARD LYTTLE

The Marin County Park and Recreation Commission yesterday continued a problem and perpetuated a tradition.

The problem is Bolinas Lagoon and what to do about the private tideland on its borders.

The tradition is the commission's noted care to avoid precipitous action on anything. In fact there was very little action in yesterday's three and one-half hour meeting.

The commission discussed plans for the second phase development of Paradise Park on the Tiburon Peninsula, saw plans for Stafford Lake Regional Park west of Novato and heard a request for an outdoor teaching area there.

After considerable discussion, commissioners agreed to talk about the Bolinas Lagoon again July 7, and that the matter would again be continued then pending a subsequent field trip to the lagoon.

Bolinas Lagoon, much debated by various departments of county government all Spring, still involves several unanswered questions.

Supervisors have agreed to zone the waters of the lagoon for open area, but this has been help up because legality of zoning lands which are in a state trust to the Bolinas Harbor District has been challenged by the district.

Before the commission yesterday were recreational values of the various parcels of private tidelands surrounding the lagoon, and the recreational merits of the Bahia Baulines Inc. lease by the harbor district to the Finley family for Marina development on the east side of the lagoon. The board of supervisors had asked the commission to evaluate these.

One piece of news that came out of the discussion was a report by David Van Pelt of the county planning department that the Marin Conservation League is negotiating for purchase of the 109-acre island near the lagoon entrance, held by Anne Thompson Kent. This area was number three in the tentative list of priorities for county purchase.

At the July 7 meeting Recreation Director Kelvin J. Nelson is to present his list of suggested priorities, with synopsis of the Finley lease.

"If the supervisors decide in the meantime that they don't want to wait for our advice, I'll be very happy," Commissioner Lothar Salin said.

Salin objected to the commission being asked to evaluate the Finley lease. He suggested that it be referred to the County Counsely for interpretation.

Walter Horchler of the county planning staff presented the plan for Stafford Lake Regional Park. It would involve purchase of about 60 acres, provision of picnic areas at the west end of the lake, with a boat concession, archery range, horseshoe pits, amphitheater and nature study area.

Horchler said one problem was the State Division of Highways' proposal to run an east-west freeway across the north side of the lake. This is one of the routes being considered by the state for main connection to Point Reyes National Seashore.

Horchler's plan shows Vineyard Avenue extended south of the Indian Valley golf course to connect with the freeway at an interchange west of the park area.

Although his plan shows only 60 acres for acquisition, Horchler said he hopes that the park preserve would total 900 acres, leaving most of the hillsides around the lake open for hiking and riding trails.

Mrs. Clara Evans, acting director of Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum in San Rafael, urged that a valley south of the lake be set aside for an outdoor school. She suggested the county schools office could lease it.

The commission decided to allocate $3,700 in the current parks and recreation budget to the City of Novato under a joint powers agreement for construction of a foot bridge and purchase of Lions Club picnic tables near Stafford Dam.

Landscape architect Asa Hanamoto discussed the use of $51,500 recommended in the proposed 1966 county budget for Paradise Park. He said the job will include planting, grading a second parking area and building restrooms. The commission postponed decision.

The commission agreed to hold a dinner, probably on June 21 or 24, for Mrs. William B. Newman, who recently resigned from the commission. This will probably be at the Meadow Club above Fairfax.

Pentagon Tells Side In Race Fuss

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon said yesterday Capt. Edward Dwight Jr., first and only Negro to get through the Air Force space pilot school, was recommended for astronaut training but was not selected by the civilian space agency for that program.

The Defense Department statement said he was "accorded the same rights, privileges and treatment as the other students" while in the Air Force school.

The statement was issued in response to inquiries about an article in the June issue of Ebony magazine saying Dwight, 31, apparently had been dropped from the space program. The magazine said he was shelved because of a letter he wrote to the Defense Department telling of "racial pressure" against him at the Air Force Aerospace School.

A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said it is not that agency's policy to reveal the names of persons who have applied to become astronauts.

Violent Weather Kills 2, Hurts 60 In Central U.S.

CHICAGO (UP) — Tornadoes, thunderstorms and hail hammered the nation's mid-section last night, killing at least two persons and injuring more than 60. Two others were missing in the crash of a small airplane.

Rain spattered areas from the Atlantic Coast to Minnesota today. Showers and thundershowers also hit sections of the central Rockies and the Great Basin.

A woman was killed and her husband was critically injured when a tornado flattened their home at Cotton Center, Tex.

Lightning killed a man and injured his son and a friend as they were loading hay at De Soto, Ill.

A private plane believed to be carrying two persons crashed in a mountainous area near Whitesburg, Ky., during a thunderstorm.

Growers Say Crews Available

BRAWLEY (AP) — Imperial Valley melon and tomato growers say full crews are available at most ranches despite a union effort to cut off a main source of labor at Calexico.

A strike was called Tuesday by the AFL-CIO Agricultural Workers Organizing Committee in support of demands for a 15-cent hourly pay raise and a union contract.

Union leaders said 1,200 farm workers refused to board buses at Calexico yesterday for work in the valley melon and tomato harvests. Police in Calexico reported that several hundred men jammed loading areas as union pickets paraded in front of buses.

San Rafael's Improvement Budget Reaches $2 Million

San Rafael's capital improvements fund is so large in the proposed 1965-66 budget that City Hgr. Dan E. Andersen has drawn up a separate, $2 million capital budget.

With the aid of city finance officer Orrin Wendling, Andersen completed the capital budget this week and sent it to the city council yesterday.

In his covering letter, Andersen recommended that budget hearings start at 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday at city hall.

Total is $2,085,367, with nearly half of this going toward the new city hall, for which site preparation has already begun. Total asked for public buildings is $1,091,594, of which $1,032,000 will pay for the city hall. The rest, nearly $60,000, would remain unallocated at present.

Andersen proposes that the city hall cost be covered by adding $732,000 in sales tax revenue to a reserve of $300,000 already on hand.

Inserted in the booklet is a sheet headed "excluded projects" which lists $142,400 worth of projects Andersen feels should be left out.

Bulk of this money would be saved by postponing a $100,000 storm drain and flood control project on DuBois Street south of Woodland Avenue. The rest would come from deleting $30,500 from engineering and construction of Montecillo Park, and cutting out the cost of traffic signals at Las Gallinas Avenue and Manuel T. Freitas Parkway. The signals are being paid for from the current year's budget.

Second largest item in the special budget is extension and improvement of Third Street to fit in with the planned one-way street program. Work on both ends of the street is divided between the "select street system" budget and the streets and highways section.

Under the select system, work at Third Street's east end is shown in two phases, expected to cost $460,000, with $280,000 of this being covered by gasoline tax funds.

Work on the street's west end, from E Street to Second Street, is allotted $21,300 of the $126,300 streets and highways budget. Other projects in that section are extension of Castlewood Drive and resurfacing of several streets.

Remaining portions of the proposed capital improvements budget are:

1. Storm drain and flood control projects, $155,000, with $100,000 going for the Bret Harte Channel from Highway 101 to Woodland Avenue. Other work would be on Lindaro Street and in East San Rafael Assessment District 1.

2. Fire facilities, $137,290. Of this, $118,290 would build the planned Fire Station 5 in Glenwood. Also scheduled are extension of hydrants, mains and fire alarms, as well as paving in front of the recently completed Station 4.

3. Parks and recreation, $95,183, which would go for seven projects, including renovation of Boyd Park, tennuis courts at Gerstle Park, Dixie School District receration facilities, and work on Sun Valley, Nunes Ranch, Montecillo and Freitas parks.

School Heads Bill Defeated

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A proposal to repeal the restriction of public school administrative posts to teachers with academic majors in college has been defeated by the Senate Education Committee.

The bill voted down yesterday would have allowed teachers with major study fields in home economics, physical education, industrial arts and other non-academic subjects to qualify for school administrative credentials.

Assemblyman George W. Milias, R-Gilroy, author of the bill, charged the Fisher Credentialing Act passed in 1961 established "second-class citizens" among public school teachers.

Building Appeal Board Expansion Is Urged

Marin's Chief Building Inspector Hans J. Berge has recommended that the county board of appeals, which hears appeals from builders on the building code, be increased from seven to nine members.

He has recommended to the board of supervisors that John Little of Corte Madera, representing the Masonry Contractors Assn., and Ray White of San Rafael, representing the Associated Heating and Sheet Metal Contractors, be added to the board.

Labor Snubbed On Jobless Pay

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Unemployment and disability insurance legislation far less than requested by organized labor has won the backing of the Assembly Finance and Insurance Committee.

The committee sent to the Ways and Means Committee last night a bill providing higher maximum jobless benefits, but cutting about 60,000 workers from eligibility for unemployment compensation.

Then it approved a minor extension of coverage for workers disabled by off-the-job illness or injury. The bill by Assemblyman Willie L. Brown, D-San Francisco, broadens coverage to include some domestic workers. Its cost was placed at $1.5 million a year.

Sixteen billion aspirin are taken each year.

The night nobody showed up

It happens at every community meeting. People with valuable opinions never show up. Result: inaction on needed city improvements.

Your active interest in local government makes possible constructive civic improvements—better fire-fighting equipment, schools, water and sewerage facilities, parks and streets. And the money for these improvements usually comes from municipal bonds. Bonds distribute the cost over an extensive period to keep taxes at a reasonable level. The interest on municipal bonds is determined by competitive bidding to give your community the lowest rate under prevailing bond market conditions.

You owe it to yourself to know what's best for your town and to make your opinions known when it counts! Your property values will reflect the resultant benefits.

German Autos Of Marin Due Hub City Opening Next Week

A new business — German Autos of Marin — should be ready for an opening by next week at 754 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo.

This property was formerly occupied by Ken's Drive-In and has been leased by two former employees of Mill Valley Volkswagen, Emil Feibel and Karl Wolff. Feibel, a resident of Fairfax, was service manager for seven years; Wolff, now moving to San Anselmo, was foreman. The transaction was handled by John Manzone of Tamarin Realty Associates, Inc.

The operation will include the sale of used foreign cars (as soon as stock is acquired) and repair work, principally on Volkswagen, Karmann Ghia, Porsche and Mercedes-Benz cars. Front part of the building will become a showroom and office; cooking area in the rear is being converted into a repair shop.

ANOTHER NEW ENTERPRISE due to open for business about the middle of this month is Hues and Vues in the Strawberry Town and Country Shopping Center. This is a venture of Theodore and Patricia Rist of Belvedere.

He has been a structural engineer, and is now turning to handling the Fuller paint line and wall coverings of all types. She has been doing interior decorating in Belvedere about six years. Ergo the two will combine their talents to serve the householder who needs help with both materials and the esthetics of home redecorating.

OWNERS Archie and Kay Brown of Les Girls have announced the opening tomorrow of a new fur salon at this downtown San Rafael style shop.

Besides showing new merchandise, the "fur corner" will handle repairs, remodeling, cleaning and designing and will be operated in conjunction with the gown salon.

The Browns have acquired Marvin Leavitt, known as "Mr. Marvin," of San Francisco as the store's furrier. He will be here every Friday to show furs and discuss customers' problems. It was felt it would be better to have a fur expert on hand one day a week than to have the department operated less efficiently every day. And Leavitt will meet with customers on others days by appointment.

He has been the fur business for 26 years, starting as an apprentice and working up through every phase of manufacturing, designing and selling.

JIMPS WILCOX of Fairfax is new field coordinator and supervisor in Marin for the Bay Area carpenter and apprenticeship program, working in cooperation with Carpenters Union Local No. 35 in San Rafael and College of Marin where evening classes are held.

A NEW MODEL swimming pool, becoming popular in Marin, according to manager Robert Kauman of Blue Heaven Pools, is one that keeps its contents seven to 14 legrees warmer than the average pool — through its color background alone. Poolsides are black plaster and waterline tile is also black, absorbing the sun's rays to heat the water. Visual effect is depth, and the model is called "Mountain Lake Pool."

Speaking of depth, Kaufman notes that there's a trend to building shallower pools lately. If no diving board is planned, depths can be from three to five or six feet, instead of eight or nine.

THRIFTY DRUG STORES in San Rafael and Corte Madera are joining in celebrating the chain's month-long 36th birthday celebration and sale running through June. Many specials are being featured.

Contest, which costs nothing to enter, offers 13 prizes including an International Scout automobile, five Carrier room air conditioners, three Yamaha motorbikes, two Admiral color television sets and two Ampex stereo tape recorders. Contest closes midnight, June 30. Drawing will be held July 16. Pick up an entry blank at any Thrifty store.

Market Erases Early Rise, Closes Lower

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed sharply lower today after erasing a good early rise.

Trading was active and prices churning in the final minutes as some issues met support and others weakened.

The market reached its highest point at the end of the first hour, then gradually backed away.

In late dealings Kennecott was off about 3 points, IBM about 4, U.S. Steel 1 and New York Central about 2.

Volume for the day was estimated at 6 million shares compared with 6.85 million yesterday.

Here was the picture toward the close:

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point were the rule among most leading issues.

Exceptions were IBM, off 4, and some of the Western railroads: Chicago Great Western, up 5; Chicago & North Western, up early 4; Rock Island, up more than 2; and Chicago Great Western preferred, up nearly 3.

Thanks to such gains, rails were up on average despite a loss of more than a point for New York Central and a fraction for Pennsylvania Railroad.

General Motors held a 1-point gain while Kennecott was off about 2 and DuPont more than a point.

The market was higher at the start, rebounding vigorously from selling earlier this week. After the first hour, gains began to fade.

Penick & Ford looked like the most active stock but was unchanged. Reynolds Tobacco, which said it will proceed with the acquisition of Penick & Ford, was steady.

Gains of about 2 were shown also by Storer Broadcasting, Monsanto, Howard Johnson and Paramount Pictures.

Up a point or so were Magma Copper, Northwest Airlines, Rock Island Railroad, Emerson Radio, Beaunit, Merck and Boeing.

American Airlines was a 2-point gainer. Eastern Air Lines slumped more than a point.

Prices were higher in active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. Treasury bonds were stronger on news that the British government had cut its bank rate.

Bank Of England Rate Is Cut

LONDON (AP)—The Bank of England rate, which sets the pattern for interest charges in the sterling bloc, was cut today from 7 to 6 per cent.

The 7 per cent rate had been in effect since Nov. 23, when the Labor government jumped it from 5 per cent in an attempt to bolster the pound sterling by encouraging the investment of foreign funds in Britain.

However, the high rate damped down borrowing for business expansion and housing mortgages. The government had been anxious to reduce it as soon as possible.

Dividends Declared

MORTON GROVE, Ill. — The board of directors of Baxter Laboratories, Inc., has declared regular quarterly dividend No. 120, of 10 cents per share on the company's common stock. A quarterly dividend of $1.50 per share on the preferred stock was also declared.

Is U.S. In For Depression? Here's A Look At Picture

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Could the 1929 crash happen again? Federal Reserve Chairman William McChesney Martin sees today's boom psychology as having "disquieting similarities" with that of the 1920s.

But the Johnson administration holds that there's small likelihood of a repeat performance — if the Federal Reserve, business and labor all will cooperate with government in keeping the economy on a one-way street to prosperity.

This doctrine is called the new economics. It contends that the business cycle can be licked, or at least tamed, and that 1929 need never happen again.

The Martin rattling of old memories sent shivers through U.S. stock markets Tuesday and the London stock market yesterday.

Stock traders were alarmed that the smoldering dispute between administration economists and the money managers was coming out into the open.

They also were aware that it was just three years ago that the stock market had its worst crash since 1929. It revived and prices early this May were at record highs. The very height of these prices makes some observers dizzy.

Businessmen are more inclined to concentrate on the evidence of continuing strength of the four-year-old economic upswing. They stress the brakes on booms and the cushions for downturns that have been developed since the 1929 crash.

Bankers study the clash in economic and monetary thinking in Washington to glean clues as to the future course of interest rates and the recently noted trend toward tighter money and credit. The trends — and the clash, if it becomes sharper — can affect both the course of the domestic economy and the troubled international monetary situation.

There are a number of things that make 1965 look like 1929. But even Martin concedes there are many differences, too.

The similarities: In both 1929 and 1965 government and business leaders were convinced that prosperity would last forever and that the business cycle was old hat. This belief was strengthened in both instances by a long period of economic growth. In both years private debt was growing rapidly. In both years the money supply was expanding.

But 1965 is different from 1929 in many ways: Excesses of the stock market, of banking and credit are under close supervision now, while in 1929 the sky was the limit. Wages have kept pace with corporate profits. And there is now a vastly expanded middle class with higher incomes and impressive liquid assets — as well as debts. Wholesale prices are fairly stable now, while in 1929 they were declining.

Business expansion of capacity now is being tailored much closer to consumer demands. Social Security, unemployment benefits, dozens of government projects insure against the disastrous drop in private income that the 1929 crash triggered.

And, as the 1962 stock market crash showed, generally prosperity isn't as closely tied to the market as it was in 1929. The stock market still has great psychological hold on the public. But the public now takes the ups and downs of the market without panicking.

Safeway Reports May Sales Gain

OAKLAND — Safeway Stores, Incorporated, has announced sales for the four weeks ended May 22 were 7.8 per cent ahead of the comparable period of last year.

Safeway's consolidated sales for the four weeks ended May 22 amounted to $224,489,302 as compared to $208,332,587 for the four weeks ended May 23, 1964.

For the 20 weeks ended May 22 sales totaled $1,101,696,549 as against $1,034,096,520 for the comparable 1964 period, an increase of 6.5 per cent.

There were 2,125 stores in operation as of May 22 this year in comparison with 2,074 as of May 23, 1964.

American Tradition Destroyed At Indy?

INDIANAPOLIS—When Jimmy Clark, the Great Scot, put away the field in the 1965 Indianapolis so easily you'd think they were running 1927 Essexes with radiator troubles, he may have destroyed more than American pride. He may have destroyed an American tradition.

Traditionally, Indianapolis has been a Congress of Characters in canvas coveralls and second-hand tool kits who spent the winter in the back part of a greasy garage putting together, sometimes with hand-made parts, a machine that was taken apart so often it looked from a distance as if they were playing with 180-mile-an-hour Erector sets.

AROUND THE FIRST of May they would load these creatures lovingly on the back of a patchwork truck and van them to Indianapolis. No one had much of an edge except what went on in back of his busy brain. There were no computer machines, no gigantic engineering divisions working far into the night. Just a few guys with screw drivers and a passionate love for a hunk of metal.

They stole from each other. One year, a guy would tip the engine 40 degrees to the left and the next year 20 other mechanics would follow suit.

They paid for their hobby by dredging up sponsorships, spare parts and cash donations from accessory manufacturers and paid off by naming their cas the "Drink Jones' Orange Juice Special" and they put so many decals on their machines, it was a wonder they didn't tattoo the drivers, too, on the chance the winner would come on camera with "Get Your Piston Rings at Clancy's."

THERE WAS a romance in the business. It was a baling-wire and hairpin kind of automotive engineering. The major auto companies avoided it like a strike. If they did occasionally kick in with a major part like an engine block they would say, "Here, but don't tell anybody where you got it." A pile of twisted blazing wreckage in the middle of the Brickyard was not their idea of inspired advertising. They leaned more to lovely ladies in evening gowns getting helped out of a back seat by a doorman at the Waldorf.

The cars, like the drivers, had personalities of their own. Also, eccentricities. The British Novis, supercharged screamers with 760 horsepower, were brought to the track year after year by Andy Granatelli and his brothers and crew who loved every massive inch of these overweight, impulsive old dynamos. They were as hard to handle as a sulky wife. Four years in a row Andy has lost one on the first lap of the race. They usually ended up smoking on the side of a wall looking as if they had just run over a land mine. They almost needed a pit stop in the qualifying runs, but went so fast they could still make the lineup. People on downtown Meridan St. would pick up the wail of these monsters. "There go the Novis," they would tell each other, knowingly.

THEY COULDN'T win. Every year, rivals would look nervously over their shoulders at these locomotives of the speedway and every year the grueling conditions would prove too much for their stout hearts, not to say bodies.

Two years ago, one of the most powerful manufacturing and industrial empires in the world threw several million dollars into the pot at Indianapolis.

This year, Jimmy Clark won the race without even extending himself or the car. A chagrined Rodger Ward, one of the old school of Indy competitors, confessed in print, "They made us look like monkeys." There is very little doubt Clark was running 5 miles an hour below the car's maximum capacities, running well within himself, but I guess it would be embarrassing to finish an hour ahead of the field.

What does this portend for the future? Well, other automotive companies who fear the Justice Department more than the Mafia does and are loathe to enter factory cars even in Memorial Day parades, may have to change their minds if this bonanza of "free" advertising (bought at a cost buried under research and development budgets) spurts a competitive product ahead of theirs.

THE NEXT LOGICAL step, of course, is for governments to get in the thing. The Japanese have already expressed an interest. Of course, if the Russians get in it, the Defense Department will start letting contracts for rear-engined Yankee Doodle Dandies to run at Indy. Indianapolis will be just another proving ground for World War III.

What this does for the romance of racing shouldn't happen to a shark. The gallant guy in the red bandana he ties around his mouth, the backyard mechanic who rushes home from work every night with a can of oil and a new part he has cadged, will be as obsolete as the Marmon Wasp. His replacement will be a guy with a computer machine, briefcase and a direct phone to all the Ford brothers.

The least he can do is wear a red bandana and carry a screwdriver just for old time's sake even if he does have to check them at the door to get in the company dining room or past the guards at Grosse Pointe.

Giants Get Day Of Rest; Will Try Again Tonight

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Bob Shaw, who twice has been accused this year of throwing spitballs, takes another shot at the Milwaukee Braves tonight after things got altogether too wet for last night's scheduled game here with the San Francisco Giants.

Right-hander Shaw (4-2) probably will face knuckleballer Ken Johnson (3-2) when the teams try to get the Giants' road trip off the ground. But there's always a chance that manager Herman Franks of San Francisco might send Bill Hands out for his major league debut.

The latter arrived last Sunday from Tacoma where he posted an 8-0 mark and 0.50 earned run average in one-fourth of a season.

A total of five games were rained out in the major leagues yesterday including the Braves-Giants contest.

In his last appearance against his old Milwaukee mates, Shaw allowed three hits during the seven innings he worked and struck out five. But he emerged the short-ender in a 4-3 loss.

Managers Gene Mauch of Philadelphia and Dick Sisler of Cincinnati both have charged this year that Shaw throws the spitter. He fanned 10 in his last outing as the Giants defeated the Reds, 12-7.

After in this game, Sisler asserted that Shaw threw the moist pitch. He also called for legislation that either would legalize the delivery or give umpires more power to enforce the law which bans it.

Orlando Cepeda, who comes off the disabled list on June 8, left on Tuesday with the Giants for their two-week road trip. The big first baseman is expected to work out with the club but manager Herman Franks has said that he doesn't think Cepeda will be ready for three weeks.

The question then will be where to put him. Since taking over for Cepeda at first base, Willie McCovey has smashed 12 home runs and owns a .335 batting average.

The Giants, now in third place, have won five of their last six games and three of the wins came on timely hitting by "Stretch."

St. Louis halted their streak at five Tuesday, 2-1, with McCovey's home run providing the lone Giant tally.

PUTTING ON 'WORK SHOES'

Distance runner Peter Snell of New Zealand puts on his "work shoes" as he gets ready for a workout in the Los Angeles Coliseum. Snell will be among some top athletes competing in the Compton Invitational track and field meet tomorrow night. Six world record holders will be competing, but no collegians will be in the field because the meet is sanctioned by the Amateur Athletic Union, engaged in a prolonged battle with the NCAA. $100,000 Golf Play Underway

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP)—Golfers on the professional tour were scheduled to begin their quest today for an $18,000 first prize and a new car to help them spend it in the eighth annual $100,000 Buick Open Golf Tournament.

British Open champion Tony Lema, the defending titlist here, heads the field of 144 who set out to test the 7,280-yard Warwick Hills Golf and Country Club course, longest on the tour.

First prize of $18,000 is double the amount won by Lema last year when he posted a 277 to take one of the three titles he won in the month of June.

BIG TWO

Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, both of whom have passed up this tourney in recent years, are competing. So is Bobby Nichols, who won the $200,000 Carling World Open last year.

The Buick is the only stop by the pro golfers in Michigan this year.

Joining Lema are all the other Buick Open champions, Billy Casper, Art Wall, Mike Souchak, Jack Burke and Julius Boros.

NEW CAR

The winner will receive a new car for each of the next five years. A car also will be awarded to any golfer making a hole in one. Three auto winning aces have been scored so far.

Today's and tomorrow's rounds will see the field starting simultaneously from the first and 10th tees to shorten players' waiting time.

The field will be cut to the low 70 players, plus ties, after tomorrow's round.

Dodgers Stretch Loop Lead With Win Over Cards

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don Drysdale's dew point is higher than his winning percentage — but not much higher.

St. Louis humidity wilted the Los Angeles Dodgers' premier right-hander after six innings last night but didn't stop him from becoming the winningest pitcher in the majors as the National League leaders cuffed the Cardinals 4-1.

Reliever Ron Perranoski nailed down Drysdale's ninth victory in 12 decisions with a scoreless three-inning stint after the Dodgers starter tired in 79 per cent humidity at Busch Stadium. The triumph, which launched a 14-game road trip for the Dodgers, boosted their league lead to four games — the biggest margin they've had this season.

Cincinnati moved into second place, three percentage points ahead of San Francisco, by trimming Houston 5-2 in a game called after six innings because of rain. The rest of the schedule — New York at Chicago, San Francisco at Milwaukee and Philadelphia at Pittsburgh — was washed out.

Drysdale allowed five of the nine St. Louis hits, picking up his third straight victory and 150th since he broke in with the then-Brooklyn Dodgers in 1956. His nine victories this season top the Cardinals' Bob Gibson and Cincinnati's Sammy Ellis, the winner last night against Houston, by one.

Perranoski, unscored upon in his last five appearances — spanning 9 1-3 innings, fanned the side in the seventh after yielding a leadoff double to Mike Shannon. A double play helped him out of a ninth inning jam, when the Cardinals bunched their last three hits but failed to score.

Wally Moon and John Roseboro paced the Los Angeles attack with their first homers of the season and Moon drove in another run with a single. Maury Wills stole two bases, bringing his league-leading total to 32.

Tommy Harper's three-run double and homers by Gordy Coleman and Johnny Edwards gave Ellis all the help he needed in the rain-shortened Astros-Reds game.

The Astros, playing without injured regulars Jim Wynn, Lee Maye and Eddie Kasko, clipped Ellis, 8-2, for two runs in the fourth. The first one scored on Pete Rose's throwing error, the other on Bob Lillis' single.

British Soccermen Defeat German Team By 6-2 Count

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — British soccer ace Christopher Crowe scored the opening goal and assisted on the next two for the Nottingham Forest team yesterday as it defeated Germany's Hannover Club 6-2 in their international professional soccer exhibition game before a crowd of 12,000 in Kezar Stadium.

Nottingham's opening goal came after nine minutes. The Germans knotted the count at 1-1 on Werner Graeber's goal after 14 minutes and the Britishers went ahead to stay on Colin Addison's short kick at the 20-minute mark.

The victory was the second in two United States appearances by Nottingham.

The Germans won their opener in New York.

John Barnwell scored the third British goal on a pass from Crowe at the 35-minute mark and Nottingham led 3-1 at the half.

Alan Hinton scored two goals on free kicks in the second half and David Wilson knocked in a goal with his head for the Britisher's three points in the second half.

2 MORE HOMERS FOR HOWARD

Senators Sweep Doubleheader

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Frank Howard doesn't have lead in his feet anymore. There isn't any in his bat either.

A National League veteran turned American League rookie, Howard continued his steady batting climb last night as the Washington Senators swept their fifth doubleheader of the season, most in the majors, by mauling the Los Angeles Angels 13-0 and 7-1.

The genial giant collected six hits in 10 at-bats, including two homers, and knocked in five runs as the Senators slipped ahead of the New York Yankees into eighth place in the A.L.

His performance gave Howard the league lead in runs batted in with 39, a tie for the lead in home runs with 10 and a tie for the lead in hits with 57. He also raised his average 17 points to .302, putting him among the league's Top Ten hitters.

Headed for possibly the best season in his six-year carer, the 6-foot-7, 250-pound outfielder can attribute his torrid pace partly to five pounds of lead he carried around with him during spring training.

Howard, the biggest name in a seven-player deal between the Senators and the Los Angeles Dodgers last winter, reported to the Washington camp nearly 20 pounds overweight.

To combat this problem, Howard wore a 2½-pound weight in each shoe not only in practice but in exhibition games as well.

"The guys tell me I should wear them in practice and take them off for the exhibition games," Howard said at the time. "But I don't see it that way. My main concern is to get in shape. I think that's more important than looking good in exhibition games. I won't take the weights off until opening day."

The slugger's best year in the majors was in 1962 when he batted .296, slammed 31 homers and drove in 119 runs. At his present rate, he should surpass that record. He certainly should finish ahead of his 1964 performance of .226, 24 homers and 69 RBI.

In other A.L. games, Minnesota defeated Boston 6-3 and Baltimore trimmed Kansas City 6-4. Rain washed out Detroit at New York and Chicago at Cleveland.

Howard slammed two homers and a double for four RBI in the first game while Joe Cunningham drove in five runs with three hits, including a homer, all in support of Phil Ortega's five-hitter.

Howard's three singles in the nightcap increased his average against the Angels to .458 in six games. Ken McMullen slammed a two-run homer in the first inning and added two singles as Bennie Daniels and Ron Kline combined for a six-hitter.

Jim Perry turned in a brilliant relief stint for Minnesota, relieving starter Jim Grant with two on and one out in the second inning and allowing only one Boston baserunner, on an error, until Lenny Green singled with two out in the seventh. The Twins' Harmon Killebrew and Jimmie Hall each smashed a two-run homer.

Baltimore overcame a 3-0 Kansas City lead on Curt Blefary's two-run double and a two-run homer by Norm Siebern in the sixth inning. Dick Hall pitched the final four innings for the Orioles, limiting the Athletics to two hits, one of them Dick Green's ninth-inning homer.

Only 1 U.S. Grappler Still In Tournament

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — Larry Kristoff, American heavyweight wrestler, scored his third straight victory in the World Amateur Freestyle Championships today and moved into the last five in his class. class.

Kristoff, from Carbondale, Ill., outpointed Giyasetin Yilmaz, of Turkey. That left him the only American still in the championships.

Two other United States hopes were eliminated.

Wayne Baughman, middleweight from Midwest City, Okla., scored one of the upsets of the tournament by outpointing Prodan Gardjev, Bulgaria's Olympic champion. But Baughman needed to win by a fall to stay in contention, and the one penalty he collected from this bout eliminated him.

Russ Camelleri from Pacifica, Calif., wrestled a draw with Miroslav Zywczyk of Poland. He collected two penalty points and was eliminated.

Wrestlers get one penalty point for a win by decision, two for a draw, three for a defeat on decision and four for a fall defeat. Only a win by a fall keeps the penalty score blank in the over-all standings.

Kristoff had his Turkish opponent down twice in the first round—once by a leg tackle and then by a leg trip. But he could not finish off his man.

Russia's Olympic gold medalist, Aleksander Ivanisky, was still leader with no penalty points after four bouts. He defeated Bohimir Kubat of Czechoslovakia, who was disqualified.

Under the complicated rules Baughman finished with an unbeaten record, although he was eliminated. He had two draws and two points victories.

3:55.5 Mile By European

PARIS (AP) — Michel Jazy, France's Olympic track star, gave himself an early birthday present, by running a 3:55.5 mile, the fastest ever by a European.

Jazy, who will be 29 on June 13, turned the trick at the suburban St. Maur Stadium last night. He rushed up from seventh place with 300 yards to go and beat his countryman Jean Wadoux, by some 12 yards.

The first five finishers broke four minutes. Wadoux was timed in 3:57.2, Witold Baran of Poland in 3:57.4, Nicolas of France in 3:59.1 and Juza of Czechoslovakia in 3:59.2.

Peter Snell of New Zealand holds the world record for the mile of 3:54.4 and has a faster time of 3:54.1 pending.

Gonzales, Buchholz Each Win

SEATTLE (AU)—Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles and Earl Buchholz of St. Louis advanced with ease yesterday in the opening round of the $10,000 Greater Seattle tennis tournament.

Gonzales, using lobs and drop shots, defeated Luis Ayala of Chile, 6-0, 6-3 in a match that lasted only 40 minutes.

Buchholz broke Mike Davies' serve to trim the English player 8-6, 6-2.

Ayala came back to team with Barry MacKay to win the first doubles match from Pancho Segura and Davies 6-3, 10-8.

Rod Laver, the No. 1 seed after winning six titles on the current pro tour, meets MacKay in today's singles while Segura faces Mal Anderson.

Andres Gimeno and Ken Rosewall drew first-round byes and are scheduled to play their first singles matches tomorrow.

AAU MAY 'GO IT ALONE' IN U.S.-RUSSIAN MEET

NEW YORK (AP)—A spokesman for the Amateur Athletic Union said yesterday that if the National Collegiate Athletic Association boycotts the AAU National Track and Field Charmpionships at San Diego June 26-27, the AAU will "go it alone in the dual meet with Russia in Kiev July 31."

The spokesman was referring to the warning Tuesday from Everett D. Barnes, president of the NCAA, that if college athletes compete in the AAU championships, their institutions would violate the NCAA by-laws and face penalties.

The first two finishers in each event in the AAU championships will be named as the U.S. team to oppose the Soviet Union.

"Actually, we could field a strong team even without the college fellows," the AAU spokesman said. "We hope they will be with us. But the meet is scheduled, and the international rules are clear. If a boy doesn't earn the right in San Diego, he just can't make the team."

Mill Valley Merchants Feature 'Best Ever' Team

(First of two articles on Main semi-pro baseball teams.)
By RALPH CHATOIAN

The Mill Valley Merchants will send their best ever team into the Northern California Traveling Semi-Pro Baseball League next Sunday as the seven-team loop gets underway.

The "best ever" words are those of manager Bob Selna, piloting the club for the seventh straight year. "Without any doubt this is the best Mill Valley Merchants team I have coached," said Selna, adding, "but this is the toughest league we've ever been in."

Selna feels he has amassed a good hitting club with a good defense, and solid pitching. "Our weakness will be lack of speed," he said.

No. 1 pitcher for the Merchants will be Keith Fraser who had a 6-0 record with the Merchants last year in the Marin County Semi-Pro League. This season marks the fifth the righthander has been a member of the Merchants' pitching corps.

The other two starters are also righthanders, Dave Perlis, who had a 2-2 win-loss record this this past season with College of Marin, and Frank Burch, Marin Catholic graduate who was playing with University of San Francisco this season. Doing some relief pitching for the team will be Tom Leps, former player at Tamalpais High and College of Marin, and Gary Gardner, a southpaw and newcomer to Mill Valley who played at the University of Oregon.

Selna has three men on the roster for the first base position, left-handed Bill Clark who played at the University of Oregon, and Fred Mack, a two-year all-Golden Valley Conference performer for College of Marin, a right-hander, are two of them. The other is a big fellow, 240-pound Hank Ryan, a Marin Catholic grad who played at USF this season.

Second base is pretty well locked up by Frank Ubhaus who batted .500 last year in the county league. He'll be backed up by Don Simmons, a speedy lad from San Rafael.

Nick Willard of Novato, former prep star who played first string this past season on the USF frosh team, will be the shortstop for the Mill Valley nine.

Sandy Slack, voted the most valuable player on last year's team, will be at third base, backed up by Bill Brody, College of Marin freshman star voted on the second team all-conference squad.

Catching chores will be handled by Hinky Krueter, who played at University of Arizona, and Jerry Hansen, a boy who played frosh ball this season with the University of Texas.

There are several College of Marin athletes on the Mill Valley team, but this is most characterized by the outfield, where three Tars will be seeing considerable action.

John Odetto, all-conference power hitter for Marin, will be in centerfield; Joe Hebel, all-conference honorable mention slugger, will be in rightfield, and Frank Dittle, another Tar, will be in left. Other outfielders on the roster include Drake grad Lorry Galassi, now at College of Marin, and Doug Keenan who hit three homers last year for Mill Valley.

An otherwise all-Marin team, Keenan is the only member of the team living outside the county.

"We're going to be a good hitting club and should finish in the top four," said Selna. Providing most of the hits, according to Selna's expectations, will be Slack, Hebel, Mack, Odetto, Ubhaus and Keenan.

The Merchants have had a hot rivalry with the Billings-Hutchison Builders of San Rafael, the only other Marin County team entered in the semi-pro league. Last year in the county league, the two teams split, Builders winning the first game 9-1 and the Merchants coming back the next time out, 8-2.

Selna takes pride in the fact that his Merchants are the only team to beat Billings-Hutchison in the last four years. The Builders have a 5 to 2 edge however, downing the Merchants in their last meeting, Sunday, 9-4.

The Merchants host Hustads of Oakland Sunday at 1:30 p.m. at Project 17 field in Mill Valley in the league opener.

TOMORROW: Billings-Hutchison Builders.

AAUW Official Offers 3 Ways To Pick Track Team

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Tom Hamilton, executive director of the Athletic Association of Western Universities (Pacific 8) has offered a choice of three methods of selecting the United States team for next month's dual track meet in Russia.

Hamilton said any one of the three methods would be acceptable to the NCAA, which his group is aligned with. The NCAA and AAU have been engaged in a jurisdictional fight over control of amateur athletes for five years.

"There are three equitable methods of selecting a team to meet the Russians (July 30-31 in Kiev)," Hamilton said.

"One is for the AAU to request USTFF (the NCAA's track federation) sanction so all athletes may qualify through the AAU championships (at San Diego June 26-27).

"Second, hold a specific national or Olympic-type trial to insure all top American athletes from all three national championships (AAU, NCAA and USTFF) are given a chance to compete.

"Third, select the U.S. team from the best performances of the three national championship meets."

The last method is similar to an offer made on Tuesday by NCAA president Edward D. (Eppy) Barnes.

EPSOM DERBY

Sea Bird II Wins Easily

EPSOM, England (UPI) — Sea Bird II, considered a "super horse" by the French, combined the speed of his American heritage and the stamina of his European training yesterday to capture England's most coveted racing prize, the $214,088 Epsom Derby.

The chestnut son of U.S. sire Dan Cupid, the betting favorite at 7-4 among the quarter of a million fans at the track, raced to a two-length victory and collected a $182,842 winners share for his owner, French industrialist Jean Ternynck.

Sea Bird, the seventh French thoroughbred since World War II to win the race, covered the mile and a half distance in 2:38 2-5, beating his 21 rivals easily and actually slowing up at the finish to defeat Meadow Court in the 186th edition of the classic.

Ridden expertly by Australian jockey Pat Glennon, Sea Bird appared beaten approaching the final straightaway where he was in sixth place. But the 38-year-old jockey urged the colt on for the final uphill furlong and Sea Bird breezed past pace - setters I Say, Sunacelli and Niksar.

Lester Piggott, England's champion jockey who was aboard the Canadian - owned Meadow Court, was bidding for his fourth Derby victory. Instead, he had to settle for the runner-up spot, 1½ lengths ahead of I Say.

Tittle Says He's Retired 'For Good'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Y. A. Tittle, professional football's old Bald Eagle, says he has notified representatives of a projected Continental League franchise at Tulsa that he is retired for good this time.

"I'd be 40 years old and I'm not coming out of retirement to quarterback — unless they want to use wheelchairs," Tittle quipped last night.

The former San Francisco 49er and New York Giant star in the National Football League said that Tulsa representatives had asked his playing and coaching status.

"I told them I'm in the insurance business (at Palo Alto, Calif.) and still employed as a scout by the New York Giants."

Tittle said he was not in a position to serve in any capacity with a Tulsa team and enjoyed living in California.

"I know I retired from football about five times," he said, "but this time I mean it."

He retired from the Giants at the end of last season.

Parnelli Jones Suit Settled Out Of Court

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A $24,950 suit filed by race driver Parnelli Jones against the Indianapolis 500-mile winner team Lotus Ltd. was settled out of court yesterday.

James M. Nicholson, Jones' attorney, said details of the settlement have not been set, "but Parnelli is being paid what is due him."

Nicholson said he hoped the necessary signatures would be obtained today and that a formal entry moving for dismissal of the suit will be filed late today.

Federal District Judge William E. Steckler had issued Tuesday an order of attachment holding up the $24,950 of the team Lotus' record $166,621 winnings on Jones' contention that the Lotus firm owed him that amount for two major races last year.

Will Yanks Catch Up This Year?

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Will the New York Yankees be able to come from behind and win the American League pennant again?

They almost always do. At least, they have in the past.

The Yankees haven't lost a pennant since 1959. In each of the last five years, they had to come from behind to win.

Using June 1, after a quarter of the season, as a yardstick, not once in those five winning years have the Yankees been in sole possession of first place on that date.

The closest they came to that was in 1963 when they were tied with the Cleveland Indians for first place. The Yankees went on to win by 10½ games.

Of course, the Yankees, currently mired in ninth place, 10 games off the pace, never were this far behind.

A year ago at this time, the Yankees were in fifth place, 4½ games behind Chicago. They went on to win their fifth straight flag, one game over the White Sox.

The Yankees' worst June 1 position in the last six years was in 1960 when they bided their time in fourth place, six games behind the league leading Baltimore Orioles. At the end, it was the Yankees by eight games over the runner-up Orioles.

The next year, the Yankees found themselves in third place, trailing the front-running Detroit Tigers by four games. They defeated the Tigers by eight games that year.

In 1962, the Yankees were in second place, only a game behind the Cleveland Indians. New York won by five games, with Cleveland finishing sixth and Minnesota second.

While the present 10 game deficit may appear insurmountable, the fact is that the Yankees made up fore thn that in three of the past five years, since June 1.

They made up 14 games in 1960, 12 in 1961, 6 in 1962, 10½ in 1963 and 5½ in 1964.

It must be pointed out that, with the exception of 1963, the Yankees were at full strength for the most part. Their present plight is due largely to crippling injuries to Elston Howard, Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle.

Another important factor has been Whitey Ford's inconsistency following a winter operation to cure a circulatory problem in his pitching arm.

Howard is still disabled, Mantle is still hobbled by weak knees, and Whitey has become strictly a warm weather worker. Maris, back in the line-up, still favors a leg, damaged by a pulled hamstring muscle.

Then, too, there is the matter of non-hitting. The team as a whole is hitting .216. Regulars Clete Boyer, Tony Kubek, Doc Edwards and Maris are hitting below .200.

The Yankees have scored three or fewer runs in 17 of their first 45 games. And seven of the other nine clubs have hit more home runs.

Will the Yankees come back? They've got four months to show whether they can do it again.

Crampton Moves To 2nd In Golf Winnings

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Bruce Crampton's victory in the Speedway Festival Golf Tournament boosted him to second place in the PGA's ranking of official winnings which is still headed by young Jack Nicklaus.

Crampton's third win in 19 tournaments this year gave him an official total of $43,095 against Nicklaus' $47,900.

Adding official PGA-sanctioned and unofficial earnings of the two golfers gives about the same margin: Nicklaus $58,688, Crampton $55,179.

Going down the Professional Golfers Association official standings, Doug Sanders is third with $37,166 and Bruce Devlin, a consistent top-finisher but not yet a winner, is fourth with $32,245.

George Knudson, who also has failed to win, is fifth with $28,625.

The 10 leaders, with official, unofficial and total earnings:

1, Jack Nicklaus, $47,900, $10,788, $58,688.

2, Bruce Crampton, $43,095, $12,083, $55,179.

Ken Lampert Wins MCAL Bat Crown

Ken Lampert, junior shortstop for the San Rafael High School baseball team, won the Marin Athletic League batting crown with a hefty .439 batting mark, collecting 18 hits in 41 at bats.

In addition, Lampert tied Marin Catholic's Bob Lombardi for the league home run leadership with three, and was in a four-way tie for third in the runs batted in department with nine. Drake's Don Humphrey was the RBI leader in final statistics with 13.

Redwood pitchers led the league in the pitching department, Jim Garrett with a 3-0 record and Scott Murphy with a 7-2 mark.

Drake nipped Redwood for the team batting leadership, .262 to .260.

Of the top 17 batters in the league, 11 will be back next year, indicating the 1966 pennant race should be a good one.

Low Income Housing Set For Discussion

Questions of moderate and low income housing in Marin County will be discussed at a joint meeting of the Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency and Marin Human Rights Commission at 8 p.m. June 16 in the Community Lounge, Marin City.

The commission, meeting Tuesday night, authorized advertising for bids for a loan of $170,000 to finish Marin City redevelopment and pay off an outstanding $75,000 obligation. Commissioners also authorized executive director Donald O. Stutsman to continue negotiations for purchasing Santa Venetia site for the first unit of Marin's elderly housing.

Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. was elected commission vice chairman to fill unexpected term of Alton Lerch, who resigned.

The commission revised its policy to give an employee with five years experience a three-week vacation instead of two weeks. It also approved permiting public and semi - public groups doing community work projects to be loaned hand tools and other equipment, excepting automatic or power tools.

Redevelopment agency commissioners, meeting prior to the housing authority board, adopted a report of Stutsman's which found that the performance of California Development Co. to provide housing and commercial facilities in Marin City is satisfactory.

Mill Valley Man Goes Over Bank In Truck

Harold M. Swarthout, 57, of 170 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, rode his dump truck over a 10-foot embankment near Novato about 1:45 p.m. Tuesday and uprooted a tree with it, but escaped with only cuts and scratches.

Swarthout told the California Highway Patrol he was driving west on Indian Valley Road about a half mile south of Chamberlain Avenue when he pulled toward the shoulder to avoid an oncoming truck. The wheels caught the soft shoulder of the road and the truck went over the bank.

Strep Infections Continue To Lead List Of Diseases

As they have all year, streptococcus infections led the list of communicable diseases in Marin County last week, but the total number was down to 57.

There had been 79 such cases in the previous week's report by Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

Bulk of the infections was in Novato, which had 39. San Rafael reported 11 cases; others were scattered.

Mumps cases, of which there were 12, came second. All were in San Rafael. There were 10 cases of gonorrhea, of which 3 were in Novato, two were in Fairfax and others were in Marin City, San Anselmo, San Rafael, the Tiburon peninsula and rural areas.

Of nine measles cases, eight were in rural areas, with the other in Marin City. Also reported were four cases of syphilis—in Sausalito, Kentfield, San Rafael and Novato — and one case of salmonella food poisoning, in Mill Valley.

New Signal Officer Named At Ft. Baker

New signal officer for the Sixth Region Army Air Defense Command, at Fort Baker, is Lt. Col. Joseph V. Guerrissi.

Formerly stationed in Viet Nam, Colonel Guerrissi has served in Europe, Japan and Korea since entering Army service in 1942. He lives with his wife and two children at 2285 Center Road, Novato.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Bid One Notrump First With Weak Major Suit

Should you open with one notrump when you have a five-card major suit? Most experts let the answer depend on the strength of the suit.

They will bid a powerful major suit, but prefer to open with one notrump if the suit is weak.

Opening lead — ◇ Q

In the case shown today South bids notrump since most of his strength is outside of the major suit.

WISE PLAY

As it happens, the hand is eventually played at spades anyway because North wisely uses the Stayman Convention.

North's response of two clubs does not promise length in clubs but merely asks South to show a biddable major suit if he has one.

When South shows the spades, North raises to game since he has 10 points in high cards and knows that the opening bid of one notrump promises 16 to 18 points.

NOT ENOUGH

Good bidding is not enough; South must play the hand well to make the contract.

There is danger of losing three hearts and a club, and South must not rely merely on finding the ace of hearts in the East hand.

Declarer wins the first trick with the king of diamonds, draws two rounds of trumps with the queen and ace, and then leads a club from dummy. When East plays low South finesses with the ten of clubs.

WINS DIAMOND

South does not expect the finesse to win but hopes that the six missing clubs will break 3-3. He wins the diamond return with the ace, cashes the ace of clubs and leads a club to dummy's king. Unluckily, the suit breaks badly.

There is still no need to rely on luck in hearts. Declarer leads the last club from dummy and discards a heart, allowing West to win.

If West returns a heart, South will win a trick with the king; and if West returns anything else, dummy will ruff while South discards another heart.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one notrump, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ J 6
♥ A 9 2
♦ Q J 10 8
♣ J 9 8 4

What do you say?

Answer: Bid 3 NT.

You have 9 points in high cards, together with a wealth of intermediate cards (a ten, two nines, two eights). This should be enough to give partner a reasonable play for game, since he has 16 to 18 points for his bid.

Forest Knolls Garage Arson Charge Dismissed

A charge of arson against Rodney Dowel Roberson was dismissed yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Roberson, operator of Valley Garage in Forest Knolls, had been bound over by Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court on a charge of starting fires in the garage, located on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, on Feb. 28.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael Anthony said a new preliminary hearing be scheduled to present additional evidence.

"The commission wants to discuss each utility charge when it is presented for payment," Adams said.

Scheduled for commission discussion at 8 p.m. next Monday are general office expense, capital outlay, part-time personnel and materials and supplies allocations.

Mercerizing Aids Cotton Garments

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mercerizing is a chemical treatment which gives cotton greater strength, a smoother surface and improved affinity for dyes. It also makes the cotton more lustrous and absorbent, and reduces shrinkage to a minimum in laundering.

Mercerizing is now widely used on yarns for quality knit goods, on cotton for sewing threads, for laces and embroidery, and as a finishing technique for fine shirtings, dress materials, upholstery, drapery and other fabrics.

'Non Retiring' Pearl Buck Is Still Busy In Asian Projects

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—"Me retire? From what?" asked Pearl Buck.

At 72, the woman who has written close to 60 books and holds the Nobel and Pulitzer prizes for literature, is still writing.

She's also involved in enough other activities to exhaust most women half her years.

She's studying dancing, and as she said, "I can do a cha cha if I have to." She's making movies. And she's busy with a new project to aid children of American servicemen and Asian mothers.

It is for this last that she has established the Pearl S. Buck Foundation, of which she is board chairman and treasurer. The foundation carries several steps further the work she has been doing with children of mixed Asian-American blood, through Welcome House, Inc. an adoption agency which since its foundation in 1949 has located permanent homes for "many hundreds," she said.

"But adoption can't meet all the needs," she said in an interview. "I've visited Asia recently. There are thousands to be cared for."

PEARL BUCK

THESE, MISS BUCK said, are the pathetic cases because "they're not treated the same by either side. They're outcasts without opportunity.

"We'd like to see that they get a chance in their own country."

Miss Buck estimated that there are at least 50,000 children of mixed blood in Korea, that at the end of the U.S. occupation in Japan there were 200,000. She said the U.S. Army put the figure at 5,000, and there are "unknown numbers in Okinawa and now Viet Nam."

The foundation will work through established institutions in the Asian countries, but a representative from the foundation will also be on the scene. "In Korea, for instance, we'll be working right through the government's child placement service," she said.

The author was born Pearl Comfort Sydenstricker, in Hillsboro, W.Va., June 26, 1892. As an infant she went with her parents to China where they served as Presbyterian missionaries. The China in which she grew up provided the background for her "The Good Earth," which won her a Pulitzer in 1931. In 1938, she received the Nobel Prize, the first American woman so honored.

MISS BUCK was married in 1935 to Richard J. Walsh, the president of the John Day Co., her publisher, and the editor of Asia magazine. Walsh died in 1960. Miss Buck is mother, by adoption, of nine children.

'Hot Dog Extravaganza' Set For June 12 In Terra Linda

A carnival atmosphere will create a happy mood for the family when the Hi-Hopes chapter of Marin presents its Hot Dog Extravaganza on June 12 at the Northgate Shopping Center in Terra Linda.

Little Oscar, the Pied Piper of Hot Dogville, will dance about with the youngsters and present them with bright balloons and hot dog whistles.

Lunch will be served from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. and will consist of a hot dog with assorted relishes, potato chips, soft drink, and a doughnut. Proceeds will go to the City of Hope National Medical Center at Duarte. Since most of the food has been contributed by Bay Area firms, the money collected will go directly to research at the medical center.

Chairman is Mrs. Fred Pill of San Rafael, with Don Rubke of Terra Linda assisting with the preparations. Assisting Mrs. Pill are Mesdames Lapidus of San Anselmo; Fred White of Larkspur; and Leon Fish of San Rafael. Mrs. Evan Goldenberg of Ross is press chairman.

Warren Logan of San Rafael has designed the posters. And the Hi-Hopes group of 25 couples will be on hand to serve the lunches.

Bayside-Central P-TA Allocates Funds Raised

Mrs. Ralph Fenner, outgoing president of Sausalito's Bayside Central Parent-Teacher Assn., has announced how its funds raised from membership dues and the very successful family night dinner and book fair will be used.

An IBM machine needed by the schools as a teaching aid will be purchased, as well as phonograph records for classrooms and three school subscriptions to the Marin Shakespeare Festival. Tickets will be available to parents and children on a first-come, first-served basis.

A contribution will also be made to the summer recreation program initiated last year by P-TA president Mrs. Eugene Huggins, which is operated by the Sausalito Recreation Commission.

Incoming president Mrs. John O'Brien has announced that plans are being formulated to co-ordinate all the district's P-TAs into one for greater effectiveness.

Cottons Airy

Cottons of choice for summer include gently, airy sheers—organdy, chiffon, eyelet, dotted swiss, lace. Designer Lee Claire offers a white cotton lace reefer coat, for example. The best loved sheer of all, however, is cotton voile.

'Y' Announces Plans At Camp Timbertall

Teen-age girls can get international experience this summer without traveling farther than the YWCA's camp Timbertall in the Mendocino redwoods.

Camp director Emelita Cohen has announced that counselors will include people from four continents in addition to counselors from California and other parts of this country. All Timbertall counselors are young college women and teachers with special skills.

The newcomers from overseas include Gladys Castiglioni of Buenos Aires, who has a master's degree in education and child and adolescent psychology, and is particularly trained in arts and crafts. Another is Tehany El-Sahed from Alexandria, Egypt, who has special skills in outdoor crafts, folk dancing, fencing and handcrafts. Noriko Kano from Toymaka, Japan has attended College of Marin for two years, specializes in Japanese songs, poetry, arts and crafts.

Head of the Timbertall arts and crafts section will be artist Susan Moller, a graduate of University College in London, and a teacher in a London girls' school.

There will be three sessions, this summer, with the first one beginning June 25. During each session, older high school girls will form a special leadership training session. During the last session, a limited number of girls will be program aides and receive extra training and leadership experience, under direction of Mrs. Betty Spear.

Girls wanting to attend Timbertall this summer should immediately contact the Marin YWCA office.

FROM OLD ROME—Gladiators Billy Lafferty and Richard Ring stand in chariot with Lawrence Peirano as Julius Caesar alongside. They are members of Cub Scout Pack 48 of Tiburon, with act for Saturday's Scout Circus. Den mother in uniform is Mrs. Jane A. Ring.

MEET THE LION—Gladiators Jeff Cox and Steve Bobzien prepare to meet lion Richard Goward in "Animal Fair" production of Cub Scout Pack 48 of Tiburon for Saturday's Scout Circus.

Scouts Turn Performers, Stage Circus

Saturday night will be "circus night" at the College of Marin football field, complete with animals despite a college ban on animal shows at the field.

The circus will be staged by Marin Council, Boy Scouts of America, in place of the usual Scout-O-Rama. The animals will be Cub Scouts in costume in an "Animal Fair" scene.

Some 1,400 boys will take part in the one and one-half hour show, opening at 8 p.m., according to Paul Y. Dunn, council scout executive. Among them will be Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers.

The show will be in eight scenes, for each of which the football field will be divided into several grids, with a different act going on in each —more than a three-ring circus, according to Dunn.

Besides circle-type acts, there will be tableaux of American history. And the Cub Scouts' portion of the show includes gladiators in chariots and scenes from "Tom Sawyer."

Scouts have been selling tickets for the show, and others will be on sale at the gate.

Dunn said council executives decided on a scout circus instead of a Scout-o-Rama this year "to have something different."

BOAT BUILDERS working on their boat for Boston Tea Party tableaux in American historical portion of Scout Circus are members of Cub Scout Pack 37 of San Anselmo: Jerd Formichi, John Sisler, Neil Coddington, Warren Hyde and Tony Trembley.

County Holiday Plan Voted Down

County employees will not get Friday off if a legal holiday falls on a Saturday, according to a split decision Tuesday by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Supervisors Thomas T. Storer, a former county employee, and William A. Gnoss, dissented.

Storer said employees would be happier with the compensation.

"I'd be happier too," Board Chairman Peter H. Behr said, "but I think I have an obligation to the taxpayers."

Easter Seal Drive Again Tops Record

Mail contributors to Marin's Easter Seal drive have topped their record again—for the second straight year.

With envelopes still coming in, the $18,000 already received tops last year's record by $2,700, drive chairman Dr. Christian Gronbeck Jr. reported today. Total receipts from all 1964-65 campaign events are $21,805.

Visitation Rights Plan Filed In Court

An agreement on children's visitation rights between author-artist and former bullfighter Barnaby Conrad Jr. and his ex-wife, Dale Cowgill Conrad, was filed in Marin Superior Court yesterday.

Conrad, now wed to Mary Nobles Conrad, filed a petition in March for custody of his oldest son, Barnaby III, aged 12, and charged that Dale Cowgill Conrad denied him "reasonable visitation" of the son, a daughter, Cayetana, 10, and another son, Winston Stuart, 8, as provided in custody terms.

Yesterday's stipulation, however, filed by attorney W. O. Weissich who represents the ex-wife, agrees she will keep custody of all three and allow them to be with Conrad in the San Francisco Bay Area each Christmas Eve.

The former wife gets the children Christmas Day, but returns them to Conrad Dec. 26 to remain until near the end of the Yuletide holidays.

Conrad also is to have physical custody of the children at his home from June 22 until Aug. 15, this year. In succeeding years, the summer vacation period will be shared equally.

Dale Cowgill Conrad and the children reside in Florida.

Plant Site On List

Purchase of additional land at the Novato sanitation plant site will be considered by the Novato Sanitary District board at 8 p.m. today in the Marin County Water District office, 838 Vallejo Avenue, Novato.

Council Of Lions Clubs Installs

Max S. Martin of San Anselmo was installed Tuesday night as president of the Marin County Council of Lions Clubs at a dinner ceremony at Point Reyes Station. He succeeds Leonard Phillips of San Anselmo.

Emporium security guard Louis V. Boscola, who placed her under citizen's arrest, said she attempted to leave the store with a $20 sweater and smaller items.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

40 EDITORIAL PAGE Thursday, June 3, 1965 San Rafael, Calif.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Conference Is Good Chance To Study Future Of Marin

Developers, conservationists, labor and business leaders will sit side by side Saturday at the second annual "Future of Marin Conference" to be held at College of Marin.

In the same conference room or around the same conference table will be citizens with diametrically opposed views on such questions as Marincello, cluster development or expansion of industry.

No one is naive enough to expect that this year's conference, or subsequent conferences in coming years will solve all the problems of the county.

It is more logical to assume that on many major questions of policy, the individual participants will go away just as divided as ever. But the conference participants, it is hoped, will have gained to this extent: They will have been directly exposed to the various viewpoints, will have had an opportunity to cross examine the opposition first hand, and perhaps alter their own ideas in the light of new information brought out at the workshops.

Then too, divergent groups often find they are not as far apart as they thought they were.

These "Future of Marin" conferences provide the forum where those with divergent views can get together to try to find areas of agreement for the good of the entire county rather than to hammer away at points of irritation and thus continue the feud among the special interest groups.

These conferences are unique in that they do not cater to any one trade or profession or a group of related trades or professions.

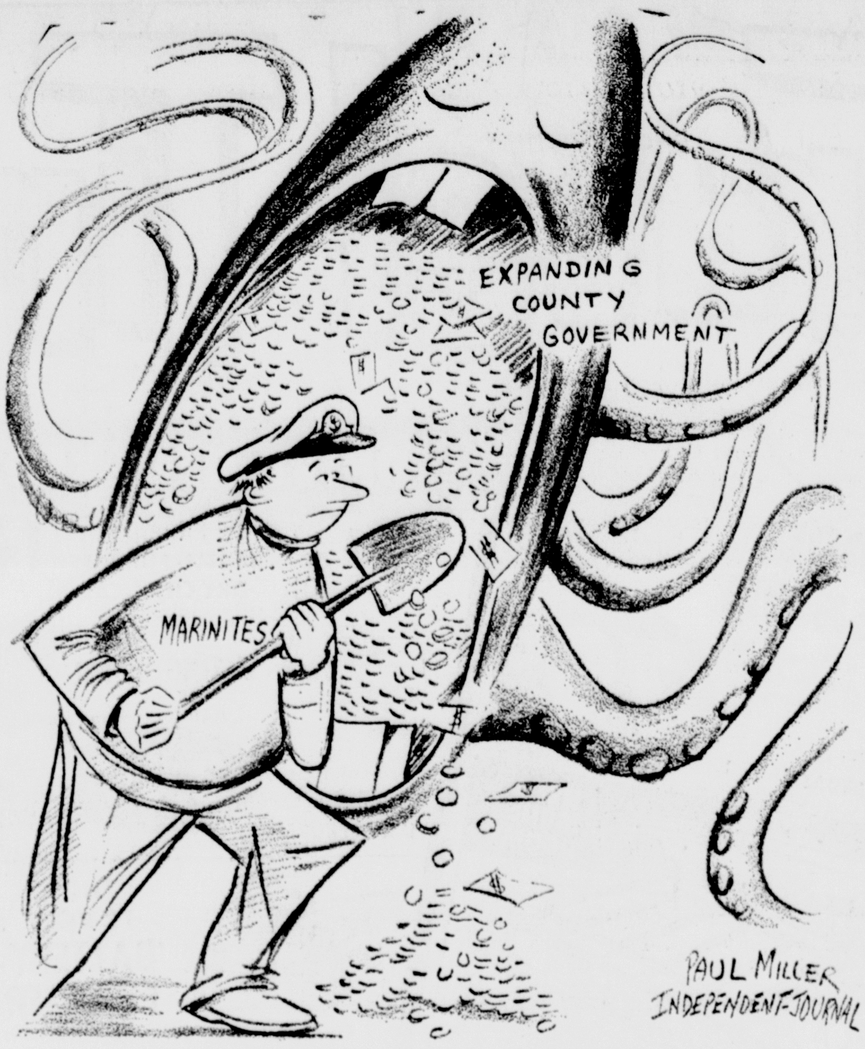

Conferences sponsored by trades or professions bring together men of similar interests and goals. Very often, speakers and panelists spend the day expounding at an audience they need least to convince—people of their own group.

One great value of the Future of Marin Conference lies in the fact that the participants represent the broadest possible range of interests.

Agreements on specific issues will be that much more difficult to attain. But agreement reached, even on a general policy level, would be a significant achievement, especially if those conclusions can become the basis for formulating an effective local and county-wide master plan.

Conference Chairman Junius A. Thomson and Co-Chairman Margaret Azevedo are making every effort to give individual citizens a chance to express their views at the various workshops that will be held throughout the day.

We hope citizens take full advantage of Saturday's forum so that we can get a consensus of what Marin would like to be 10, 20, or 50 years from now.

Is it serving us? Or are we serving it?

President Is Forced To Play U.S. Foreign Policy By Ear

WASHINGTON (AP) — American presidents have had to play a good bit of their foreign policy by ear since World War II. President Lyndon B. Johnson is doing the same, and before he's through his ears may tingle.

All of them have had to operate against communism on two planes: The long-range and the sudden.

All the presidents since the war have had plans for restraining communism and carried them out while never knowing from one minute to the next what the Reds would suddenly try.

AND, WHEN they did try, the presidents had to make-do fast to meet the new problem, hoping they would be both right and effective.

One example is President Harry Truman's almost instant response to the North Korean Reds' attack on South Korea; another is Johnson's quick action in using troops in the Dominican Republic where, he said, Communists had taken control of the rebellion.

But if American presidents have had to play the Communists by ear because of their unpredictability, Johnson is forcing the Reds as of now to play the same way with him and for the same reason.

How a president responds to the sudden and unpredictable provides more than just a measure of his judgment, since it affects thereafter both the foreign relations of this country and his world leadership.

JOHNSON HAS been criticized at home and abroad for ordering the Vietnamese bombing and his action in the Dominican Republic although, as of now, he cannot be fairly judged on either action.

The general public does not know how much of a menace the Dominican Communists were, or how necessary it was to bomb North Viet Nam, or whether the bombing will force the Reds to a truce and save South Viet Nam.

There's something else the general public doesn't know: Will Johnson act this fast in future emergencies or will he, because of the criticism he got, be more cautious hereafter about involving American forces around the world?

BUT, IRONICALLY, the Communists don't know the answer to those two questions either, and because they don't, Johnson will remain as unpredictable to them as they are to him.

This, in itself, may have a deterring effect on them, which may be something Johnson himself had figured out, without knowing where he'd have to act, before he acted in these two cases.

Novato Tennis Coach Appreciates Clinic

Editor, Independent-Journal:

As tennis coach at Novato High School, I wish to thank you for sponsoring the tennis clinic for youngsters of the Novato area conducted today by Luis Ayala.

The response to the clinic was very favorable, with about 50 in attendance. Mr. Ayala worked first with the youngest of those present, ranging in age from, I would estimate, six years to 11 years. He then worked with the older youngsters, using the Novato High tennis team members for demonstrations and pointing out difficulties individually, as well as demonstrating groundstrokes to the observers.

I believe that tennis has received a shot in the arm through this program, both in Novato and in the rest of Marin County. Such programs are badly needed and those who sponsor them should be commended for doing so.

Again, I thank you and extend my hopes that such a program can be repeated annually.

Museum Hopes For More Growth

Editor, Independent-Journal:

On behalf of the Board of Directors of the Marin Museum Association, I would like to thank the staff of the Independent-Journal for their coverage of our first major exhibition. The above and beyond the call of duty coverage, which ranged from the humorous shot of the mobile in the library and Bruce Coleman's raised-eye-brow look at the show through the eyes of a child, through the expressive feature by Bob Hax to the study of techniques of the artists by Don Keown, was superb!

Marin is fortunate indeed, that its leading newspaper realizes the importance of the fine and the beautiful in our lives and encourages the development of an organization dedicated to providing our community with a fine arts museum.

During the month of May, "THE GROWING EDGE OF CALIFORNIA SCULPTURE," caused the Civic Center to become a place to turn at beauty's glance. With your continued support, and that of our growing membership, the eventlual fine arts museum at the Civic Center will provide a permanent place of beauty, to be enjoyed not only by our own community, but the entire Bay Area.

Mail Order Gun Ban Not Whole Answer

Editor, Independent-Journal:

There are several obvious facts about the Oswald inspired gun law situation that are being completely ignored . . .

The most important fact as to why Oswald bought his Italian gun through the mail is that it was cheap! The cost of his gun with scope being only about $25.

He could have gotten any good American gun with scope . . . either through the mail or over the counter with equal ease, but a new American gun and scope would have cost upwards of $150 . . .

Furthermore it is clear that even if at the time of the assassination, mail order gun laws were in effect that completely prohibited all mailing of guns, Oswald would have had his gun just the same, but he would have had to buy it over the counter instead of through the mail.

I am certainly in favor of a law that will take such items as hand grenades, sub-machine guns, bazookas, anti-tank rifles etc. off of the market and out of the mail and out of the possession of individuals and private armies.

But I ask—how in the name of conscience any government could be so incredibly short sighted as to release such items for sale on the surplus market in the first place?

Inconsistencies Of The Day's News

Editor, Independent-Journal:

On the front page of our newspaper we see that the usual 200 U.S. planes dropped their daily lethal tonnage on North Viet Nam.

On page 2 we are informed of the President's and Mrs. Johnson's latest plans to make America beautiful.

Anyone who can get through the first two pages without feeling sick has it made.

Expansion Of Civic Center Questioned

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Regarding the Civic Center Bond planned issue. . . .

In 1945, when the county had a population of some 85,000 people, we had ONE Superior Judge and ONE Municipal Court Judge. Now, with an additional 85,000 people we have FIVE Superior Court Judges and Municipal Court Judges. There are only two possible answers — either Judge Butler accomplished the work of three of the present judges or else this additional 85,000 people were certainly a bad lot in general.

An examination of the records show that there are only a little over two and one quarter times as many superior court cases now, than there were back in 1945.

In other words, three Superior Court Judges should be able to handle all of the present cases if they did as much work as one judge did back in 1945.

Now about saving money for the taxpayers — if the Board of Supervisors would buckle down and put into the budget only those expenditures that are absolutely necessary, there would be a saving — i.e. if the Board got out of their heads, the idea of building a new Courthouse etc. at the Civic Center until it was an ABSOLUTE NECESSITY. . . .

If you think carefully on these matters you will vote a strong "NO" to this Civic Center Bond Issue on June 8.

HUNTER SHOWS HIMSELF A GOOD ACTOR

A quick-thinking hunter saved his life by playing dead in a lonely forest near Whitefish, Mont.

The man, a 60-year-old lawyer, turned quickly when he heard a noise and was horrified at the sight of a huge grizzly bear charging down on him.

The animal's first blow knocked the hunter's rifle to the ground and sent him sprawling. He lay there as if dead, while the grizzly bit and clawed him.

Apparently satisfied that the hunter was dead, the bear went away.

After doctors put 50 stitches in his scalp, hands and feet, the man was declared in good condition.

Presence of mind in a crisis is a quality seldom acquired overnight. Many small and unnoticed acts of self-conquest are often needed before any of us can meet the larger challenges successfully.

In the perils and opportunities of modern life, God's help will never be lacking. But this He requires—that we prepare ourselves by prayer, self-denial and ready generosity for whatever may come.

"Even though I walk in the dark valley I fear no evil; for You are at my side."
(Psalm 22:4)

When life's big moments come, O Lord, let me be prepared to do as You would wish me.

Federal Aid To Education Plan Might Hit Snag In California

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Allocations to California school districts under the new federal aid to education program, sponsored by President Lyndon B. Johnson, may run into a snag in California—a snag which may lead to the courts.

This opinion has been expressed by Dr. Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction.

RAFFERTY SAYS he is violently opposed to the provisions of Title I of the federal aid bill, which will mean approximately $92 million more for California schools.

This title, he points out, contemplates allocations in larger amounts to districts in which the majority of pupils have parents earning less than $2,000 annually. The theory is that in such districts, there is insufficient tax money to operate on a par with richer districts, and that as a result, pupils are receiving a substandard education

The theory, however, as Rafferty points out, does not hold true in California, or at least in some of this state's districts which have children of poorer families.

HE CITED, as an example, the Needles district, of which he was superintendent for some years. Rafferty said that this particular district, while having the children of poorer families as pupils, has more than sufficient funds to meet its needs, because of unusually large amounts of taxes paid in by various utilities.

And, he points out, this is not the only district in California in this situation.

To point up the problem, Rafferty says it is the responsibility of the Department of Education to certify the federal funds when they start arriving in California.

As a result of Rafferty's attitude, the federal program could be in for some rough sledding in California. The superintendent is not one to spend money where he believes it is not needed, desiring rather to supply extra funds at a point where they would do the most good.

It is conceivable that there are many school districts in California where the majority of parents have incomes in excess of what the federal government lists as the "poverty" bracket. On the other hand, these districts could be "poor" in the sense that their assessments are not sufficient to bring their educational facilities up to the standards desired.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

DAG HAMMARSKJOLD, late secretary general of the UN, was a born peacemaker. Once, the car he was riding in, driven by a New York writer, had a minor collision with a taxi.

When the ensuing argument was about to escalate into full-scale combat, the secretary general intervened.

"You know," he assured the cab driver, "I don't think anybody realizes the frightful job you taxi drivers have in New York. Ten hours a day of fighting this traffic would drive an ordinary man stark raving mad." "Mister," said the surprised driver gratefully, "you certainly said a mouthful!"

A few blocks later the writer's car ran out of gas, and the same cabbie stopped and offered to get some gas, inviting the writer's "nice friend" to go along; and off he drove with the secretary general of the United Nations in the front seat.

A SUPERMARKET shopper complained, "I object to being charged thirty dollars for a bag of groceries that small." "Okay," conceded the manager magnanimously, "We'll give them to you in a bigger bag."

INSIDE WASHINGTON

French Crackdown Urged By Senator

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The time has come for the U. S. to crack down bluntly and vigorously against President Charles de Gaulle's increasingly truculent and disruptive anti-Americanism.

A number of effective counter measures are readily at hand, and should be used promptly and forcefully.

THAT'S THE emphatic demand of Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., vice chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, and a ranking member of the Senate Banking and Finance Committee.

The battle-disabled World War II Marine veteran and one-time University of Chicago economics professor holds the U. S. no longer can be indifferent toward de Gaulle's deliberately obstructive animosity, particularly his large-scale raiding of our diminishing gold reserves.

Since 1963 France has drained around $1 billion of U. S. gold.

In the first quarter of this year alone, this hostile run on the gold reserves has come to more than $200 million. Last month, France obtained $60 million, and let it be known similar monthly withdrawals will be made the remainder of the year — for a prospective total of upwards of $400 million.

THESE IMMENSE gold "purchases" were made with dollars secured largely from U. S. military and related expenditures in France.

"In 1964," Douglas points out, "$231 million was spent in this fashion. That year French withdrawals of U. S. gold amounted to $405 million. France refuses to let us use francs for these purposes, but insists upon dollars which it then uses to get its hands on more of our gold."

Other significant facts cited by Douglas are:

Since 1946 the U. S. has given France $9.455 billion in aid; $5.182 billion economic, $4.263 billion military. Of the economic aid, approximately $2.5 billion was in outright grants.

"It is fair to say," declares Douglas, "that this was the greatest example of generosity in the history of the world."

THE DRASTIC counter measures strongly urged by Douglas would hit directly at both de Gaulle's disruptive ultra-nationalism and France's dollar-bulging purse.

Such stringent action is imperative, Douglas contends, because de Gaulle not only is undermining NATO but openly siding with the enemies of the U. S.

THE TIME has come, the Illinois legislator insists, for the U. S. to discard its policy of goodwill and tolerance.

Therefore, to crack down promptly and forcefully, Douglas is urging the Johnson administration to:

1. "Reduce the heavy drain ($231 million) of dollar expenditures for the support of the troops we have stationed in France to help protect that country, by moving our command and military functions to other countries. Since France is making so slight a contribution to NATO, much of the staff can be moved to West Germany, while air units can be shifted to Belgium and Holland."

2. "Cut down or eliminate our aid to former French possessions in Africa. Last year we spent $192 million on these countries, of which $125 million was in grants and $67 million in loans. Since 1957 we have spent no less than $1.1 billion on these one-time French possessions in Africa. There is no good reason why we should assume so much responsibility for these countries."

3. "In 1964 we spent $50 million for transportation on French vessels and airlines. This was two and a half times as much as we spent in 1957. It would seem only common sense for us quietly to shift our governmental transportation of persons and goods either to ships flying our flag or those of friendly and cooperative countries. Also, without initiating a public boycott, American tourist agencies can be quietly encouraged to book their clients on other lines."

4. "It is estimated that in 1964 American tourists spent $119 million in France. Here, again, no public boycott should be carried out, but a considerable number of Americans anxious to defend our country's financial integrity, can voluntarily decide either to see the U. S. first or, if impelled to go to Europe, visit some country other than France."

Teacher-Administrator Fusses Go Back To The Middle Ages

Strained relations between teachers and administration members at the College of Marin repeat a phenomenon dating back at least to the Middle Ages.

Yet Marin Junior College District Trustee Kent O. Seymour was surprised when he learned that things were not all rosy between the two groups of educators.

IN THE MIDDLE AGES, schools, which were really church apprenticeship programs, were run much the way hospitals are now. A teacher used the school but was paid by his clients, the students. The more popular a teacher was, the more money he made.

The owner of the school provided space for the teacher and his students, much the way a hospital today provides space for a doctor and his patients.

Some teachers set up their own schools, just as some doctors today set up their own hospitals. Some teachers helped to run schools, just as teachers today are promoted to administrative posts, which pay more.

FROM THAT TIME, there have been four major factors involved in schools: The students, the administration or owners, the teachers and the local community. Most of the time, one faction was at war with some other, usually students versus townsmen in town and gown riots.

Students and teachers have not, generally, lined up on the same side, except over questions of academic freedom. But last week the district trustees were presented with the spectacle of an official student resolution in favor of a faculty pay request, a request which does not have administration support.

COMMENTING ON the fact that teachers in most other Bay Area junior colleges are paid more, student body president Renato Sottile said, "Marin is one of the richest counties in California. I personally think it's a kind of disgrace to Marin County."

This phenomenon is unusual to say the least, or it was until this year. But, this year also, students from state colleges appeared before state legislative committees to argue for larger appropriations for their schools.

At the University of California, the situation was reversed last year, with the faculty supporting the students against the community and the administration.

PERHAPS, faculty members on colleges are beginning to learn just what powerful allies the students can be. Students can say what they wish, and get a public hearing, and still be invulnerable, as long as they keep their grades up and stay out of local jails.

Faculty members have to worry about next year's contract, and tenure, and their "professional" status, whatever that is. But they can, sometimes, speak through the students, if students will cooperate.

One interesting speculation now is what the students are going to ask in return from the faculty members.

Sure, 'Voltaire' Gets Nice Notes, But He Keeps Them To Himself

ONE OF THE recurrent questions almost every post brings runs something like this: "You do many columns on the letters attacking you. Why not one on those praising you—or don't you get any?"

Indeed I do—and a fair amount, too, I am most grateful to record. The same essay that arouses the latent mob-spirit in astigmatic left-liberals and causes them to send me letters consigning me to eternal perdition for my crimes again humanity often nets me three cheers and a tiger from clearer-eyed, more objective conservatives.

THE LETTER I treasure most came in the early days of this column: It was a highly perceptive critique which compared me, not unfavorably, to Voltaire. Even my wife, somewhat of a Francophile—she is mad about Chevalier and never misses any film or TV show in which Louis Jourdan appears—was impressed for a while. Yet the very next day, when she told me to take out the garbage and I asked indignantly, "Did Voltaire have to take out the garbage?" she said, "He would have if I'd married him."

Yet, though such mash notes are highly important to me, I feel I should not expose them to public view. It may be a remnant of the Puritan ethic, but I deem it not in the best taste to publish the love letters one receives.

But there is an even bigger factor in my decision. If I have a fault—and even Achilles had his heel—it is that I am what my enemies call "argumentative." I do not, in short, accept anything just because it appears in print, be it a government statistic, a foreign-policy pronouncement by Linus Pauling or an analysis by John K. Galbraith on why a too-affluent society needs an anti-poverty program.

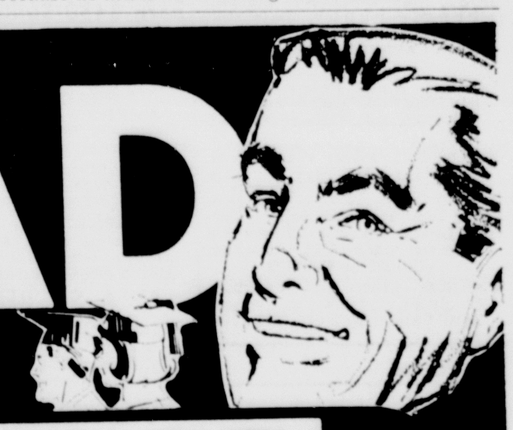

IT IS MY habit to place such dicta under my microscope, and if I find false premises and illogical conclusions—as I, alas, often do—I lay it on the line. And I fear that I would be unable to restrain myself even if the piece were one glorifying me.

It would then be my solemn if uncongenial task to note any hyperbole and minute but misleading errors in the appraisal and to offer rebuttal. How come, I can hear myself asking in the very next column, a man who knows just what should be done in Viet Nam and the Congo, thousands of miles away, is unable to pick the winner of even one horse race out of nine at Hollywood Park, only 20 miles from his home? Or, for that matter, open a can of sardines without losing either a finger or a pint of blood? And once, as I can testify, this worthy received a wire from a senator asking him to call him at 9 a.m. sharp and awoke the harassed solon at 3 a.m. because he miscalculated the way the three-hour time differential between California and Washington worked. Voltaire, my eye!

I do a pretty fair job, if I say it myself, at that sort of attack, and the ensuing second column would undoubtedly make mincemeat out of the pretensions of the first. And probably be so convincing that those who had been sending me the fan notes would wake up and switch their affections to Walter Lippmann.

SO, NO, thank you. Let's go on as we always have: Continue with those heart-warming notes, but let's keep it among ourselves.

Artist's Attic?
Nope—here it's a studio on the lower floor the whole length of the house! And the artistic atmosphere isn't confined to the studio either. Upstairs you'll find stained glass (really old ones—not modern plastic) enhancing beautifully paneled walls — custom made Austrian drapes—3 large elegant bedrooms and one of the baths even has GOLD LEAF used generously! The electric kitchen is done in dark woods to match the house and is completely equipped. The only thing the artist owner hasn't left her mark on is the magnificent view of hilltops and valleys from every window! If you are looking for a truly polished background for yourself and your possessions this is it, and the cost will be just $36,000.

First Lady Pays Tropic Isle Visit

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, St. Thomas, V.I. (AP)—This tropic island gave Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson a warm welcome on her first visit here and the governor added "the keys to or hearts."

In Emancipation Gardens where slaves were freed more than a century ago, a crowd of about 7,000 turned out to cheer the First Lady as she noted "the impressive way equality was translated into reality in these islands."

Mrs. Johnson is here to make a commencement address tonight at the first graduation of the College of the Virgin Islands. She aimed to get a few days vacation.

Seven Girls In Race For Novato Queen

Only half of the expected number of contestants in the Novato Western Weekend queen contest have turned in entry blanks, Mrs. John Gilmore, coordinator of the contest, reported today.

"We expect to have at least six more candidates' entry forms before the deadline for filing on Sunday," she said.

So far seven girls, six Novato High School students and a San Rafael High School senior, are contestants in the event.

They are:

Janet Thomas, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Thomas of 1530 Buchanan Street, Novato. Miss Thomas will be a senior at Novato High School in September and was an entrant in Co-Ed magazine's "Cover Girl" contest.

Robin Salkeld, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Salkeld of 2083 Center Road, Novato. Miss Salkeld, a Novato High School student, has modeled in 4-H club fairs and has won a special award in sewing at the state fair.

Laurie Hooper, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Hooper of 546 Atherton Avenue, Novato. She is a Novato High School student and has won second place in a debate competition for students in Humboldt County.

Sandy Graxiola, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Graxiola of 20 Boulevard Terrace, Novato. A junior at Novato High School, she is worthy associate advisor in Rainbow Girls and has participated in fashion shows at school.

Anna Pratt, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pratt of 597 Louis Drive, Novato. Miss Pratt will graduate from Novato High School this month and plans to attend College of Marin in September where she will begin study for a teaching credential. She was chosen to model in the senior fashion show at school and has won an award for after-school athletics.

Toni Antonio, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Antonio of 305 Deer Island Lane, Novato. She is a Novato High School student and has won ribbons in horse shows. She plans to be a veterinarian.

Nancy Noble, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Noble Jr. of 237 Bolling Drive, Hamilton Air Force Base. A senior at San Rafael High School, she will attend College of Marin this fall for training as a dental assistant.

Rome Drivers Safety Record Is Good One

ROME (AP) — Despite a skyrocketing increase in the number of automobiles on the highways of Italy, both the number of traffic injuries and traffic deaths decreased in 1964 from the previous year.

In 1964, 223,000 persons were injured in highway accidents compared with 230,759 in 1963. Deaths dropped by 514, from 9,839 in 1963 to 9,325 in 1964.

A four-year scholarship to College of the Holy Names has been promised to Julie Zernicke, while Bruce Currie, Mancebo and Frideger won scholarships to St. Mary's College.

Lifetime membership in the California Scholarship Foundation was granted to Bonfilio, Girard, Miss Laughead, Soden, Sullivan and Thoelecke.

New members of Quill and Scroll, journalism society for those who worked on the school newspaper and yearbook, are Miss Zernicke, Bonfilio, Beth Ritzinger, Thoelecke, Michael Flagiello, Sullivan, Peggy O'Mara, Patti Fouts, Marilyn Cassou, Harden, William Hobbs, Miss Laughead, Miss Houston, Kathleen McNamee, Sandra Heer and Victoria Shank.

Julie Leonardi and Catherine Oliva have received awards for outstanding work in journalism. Bonfilio was given a certificate by the Confraternity of Christians and Jews for an editorial he wrote on brotherhood. Thoelekce received a certificate from the San Francisco Press Assn. for his sportswriting.

Still another honor, the Marin County Savings and Loan Assn. "outstanding student" award, went to Miss Laughead.

MASONRY WORK HONORED BY AWARDS

Architectural use of masonry was honored with 14 awards at the second annual San Francisco masonry award dinner Tuesday night in San Francisco, sponsored by the San Francisco Masonry Industry Promotion Trust Fund. Two of the awards were for Marin County structures: Temple Rodel Sholem in Santa Venetia (top), designed by Marquis and Stoller, and a fireplace in a San Rafael residence (bottom) designed by Henrik Bull.

Brave Words Pass Red Czech Censor

By IAIN MACDONALD
Worldwide Press Service

MUNICH—"Is it not possible to start from the premise that the individual is more important than society and that society should serve the individual?"

These words which seem commonplace to people who live in a democracy, are brave and remarkable, given the Communist circumstances under which they were written. Brave, because the author is a man who has already suffered grievously for his outspokenness. Remarkable, because they were passed by a Communist Czech censor and appeared in an officially controlled Czechoslovak magazine.

Liberty of the individual is not a subject customarily close to Marxist hearts. The Communist world has been typified rather by the savage repression of all oppositional voices and the omnipresence of the secret police.

Nevertheless, after two decades of Communist rule in Eastern Europe a new spirit is abroad and a new generation of intellectuals is coming to the fore who are anxious to prove that Lenin and liberty are not incompatible.

Are they right? The official Communist rulers are no less skeptical than rabid anti-Communists in the West, and the advocates of freedom under Marx are liable to find themselves promptly denounced as "bourgeois" or "revisionist."

Not all of these voices are young, either. Nor are they crying any longer in an impenetrable wilderness. No-one else has yet dared to go so far as 58-year-old Eugen Loebl, whose plea for the primacy of man over society has stirred such a sensation.

"Is it not possible," he asked in his magazine article, "and even, I believe, correct, to take human rights and the desire of the individual for freedom as the starting point and to regard the function and task of society, and thus of the State, as of safeguarding the maximum degree of independence for every individual, whether from the forces of nature or in relation to his neighbor or society in general?"

Loebl is no "capitalist stooge." He has been an active Communist for more than 30 years and, after World War II, was a member of the Czechoslovak Communist Party Central Committee as well as deputy minister of foreign trade.

But in 1950, when the great Stalinist purges swept Eastern Europe, he was arrested along with the party's former secretary-general, Rudolph Slansky, Foreign Minister Vladimir Clementis and a dozen other prominent communists, mostly Jews.

Loebl was accused of being an enemy of the people, a Zionist, an imperialist spy, a man who had sought to overthrow the "people's democratic" system, and he was convicted at a notorious show trial in November, 1952.

Slansky, Clementis and nine others were sentenced to death and executed. Loebl got "only" life imprisonment.

Released in the mid-1950's, he was fully "rehabilitated" two years ago and has since established a reputation as one of the strongest advocates of liberalization in Czechoslovakia, especially in the economy.

Loebl's most recent call for more freedom was made in Kulturny Zivot, the weekly magazine of the Slovak Writers Union and the pacemaker of revisionism in Czechoslovakia.

It was inspired by a public debate which has been raging in the Czechoslovak literary press between the best-selling Slovak writer Ladislav Mnacko and the controversial young West German dramatist Rolf Hochhuth, author of the much-debated play "The Deputy."

This argument has covered such topics—hitherto taboo in Czechoslovakia—as the death of Czech Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk and the Katyn massacre of Polish army officers. It has also dealt at length with the problems of truth and power.

Sympathizing openly with Hochhuth, Loebl warned that it is highly dangerous "always to want to be right." He expressed a preference to drink from a cup filled with "the eternal thirst for knowledge" rather than one containing "the ultimate truth about all questions."

The official ideologists of the Czech Communist Party may not have liked Loebl's observations about the nature of truth, but it was what he had to say about power that really upset them.

Power beyond what is needed to ensure the maximum degree of freedom for everyone, he wrote, should be withdrawn from the State.

"Any power which exceeds this limit is not just an evil," he declared. "It is, in fact, a crime. Thus power as such is a crime just as war is a crime. Only that power which is derived from the duty to defend the independence of the individual is not an evil."

Loebl's unorthodox views produced a quick blast from the official voice of the Communist Party, the newspaper Rude Pravo.

His views, it declared scornfully, were "deeply naive, idealistic opinions." The paper added, "We must define correctly in theory and practice how far the direct State regulation of people's behavior is to go in order to . . . preserve a purposeful regulation of social activity in the direction of socialism and communism—an no other."

Recorder Society Sets Workshop

The Marin Chapter of the American Recorder Society is sponsoring its fourth annual workshop at the College of Marin today, Friday and Saturday.

Chapter president Douglas L. Perrin announced that 50 people from as far away as Los Angeles and Phoenix have registered for the workshop, which is open to registered participants only.

Directors are Friedrich and Ingeborg van Huene, well known players and teachers in the East.

"One of the most important events while the von Huenes are in Marin," Perrin said, "will be a special concert for seventh and eighth grade music students in Vallecito School in Terra Linda on Tuesday afternoon.

"Vallecito is the only Marin school in which recorders are taught as a regular part of the curricular music program."

The von Huenes will also demonstrate some of the other Renaissance and Baroque instruments which they regularly play in the Boston Camarata.

Corte Madera Pay On Agenda

Requests for more money to operate the police and fire departments, and requests for higher pay for town employees generally, will be before the Corte Madera Town Council at a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at the town hall.

In addition, Councilman Albert E. Kogler has promised to make another try to increase the appropriation for recreation in the 1966 fiscal year budget. The money would be used to maintain operation of the Larkspur-Corte Madera Joint Recreation Commission program.

Town employees have asked for a 5 per cent pay raise, but the budget proposed by Mayor Edward W. Colthurst calls for only half that much.

Motorists in the United States are spending approximately $20 million daily on gasoline taxes.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Motion Sickness Is Common, But New Remedies Control It

VAN DELLEN

Motion sickness is more common among children than adults. Boys between the ages of 5 and 15. are particularly vulnerable. Dr. Isadore Kaplan of Baltimore attributes this to "the greater influence exerted on them by excitement, restlessness, and dietary indiscretions."

Among adults, women are more susceptible than men. Dr. Kaplan found that motion sickness is less likely to occur when traveling by train. It is most common on the sea, and less so when airborne. Statistics are not available for bus and automobile travel. There are many variables such as the condition of the road, curves, storms, odors, and the individual's emotional makeup.

THE PRESENT group of remedies came into being after World War II. They give 90 per cent protection when used properly. The list includes Dramamine, Marezine, Bonine, and Phenergan. The old-timers are atropine, hyoscine, and scopolamine.

Some of these were found to be of value in ordinary dizziness, and in controlling nausea and vomiting. This is understandable because motion affects the organ of balance, the bony labyrinth of the inner ear. The nerves in the ear are sensitive to rotary motion, and when stimulated in the usual manner, the person encounters vertigo, nausea, sweating, and vomiting.

IT HAS BEEN estimated that nine out of 10 develop one or more of these symptoms when traveling is rough. Moderate turbulence affects 10 to 30 per cent; 3 to 5 per cent never become ill. The hardy sailors and passengers have a balancing mechanism capable of rapid adjustment to sudden changes in pitch, roll, altitude, and turning movements.

At the turn of the century seasickness was a topic of conversation because immigration was at its height. Today's travel problems are different. The automobile, bus, train, and plane compete with the lake steamer, ocean liner, and river boat. Manufacturers of modern conveyances have done everything to make riding smooth, but they have no control over nature.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

LIMPING

J. K. writes: What causes intermittent claudication? My husband was given this diagnosis when he went to the doctor about pain in his calves when walking to the train. He doesn't have this pain when he walks around the house.

REPLY

Poor circulation is responsible for these cramping sensations. Your husband is not bothered at home because he does not walk far enough to develop pain.

NUMB FINGERS

I. G. writes: From time to time my fingers are numb. I have no pain but cannot hold a pencil or any small object. Could this be serious?

REPLY

Yes, but the chances are it is not. The causes vary from a simple anemia to a neurological disorder.

Today's Health Hint—Maintain reasonable calm at meals.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Probers Find They Are Sued

Matilda got into an intersection crash. Her car was badly damaged but Matilda herself didn't seem to be hurt much. Just a few cuts and minor bruises.

After a day of rest she went back to work on a job she had held for 35 years. After the accident she complained of leg and back pains she claimed that the accident had caused her severe loss of the use of some of her muscles.

The other driver had missed the stop sign and seemed to be clearly at fault. Matilda filed a claim against his insurance company for several thousand dollars.

The company hired detectives to check on Matilda. They took moving pictures of her with a telescopic camera, puttering around her yard, walking to work, doing her shopping, and the like.

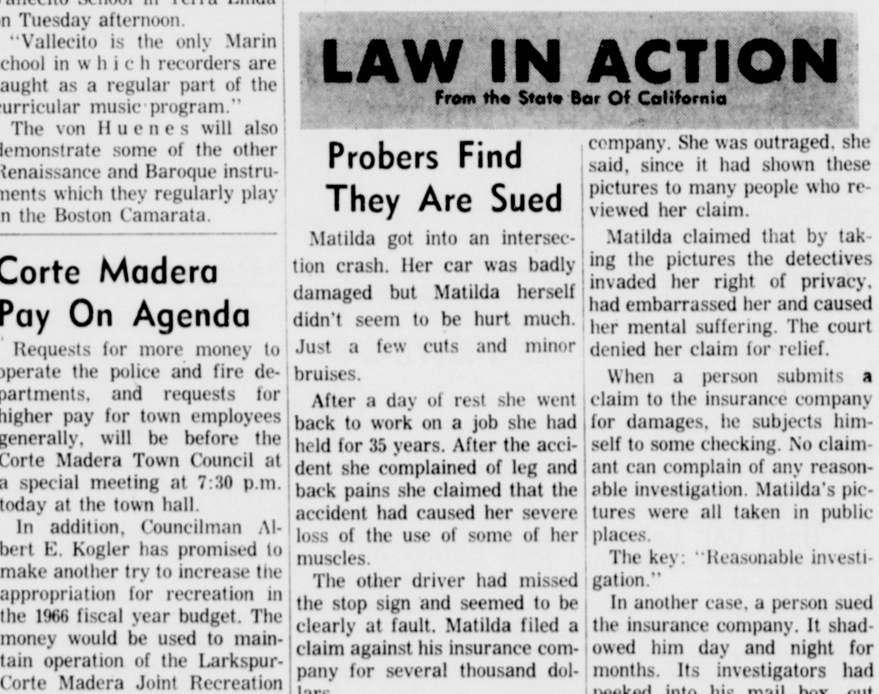

After Matilda settled her claim, she sued the insurance company. She was outraged, she said, since it had shown these pictures to many people who reviewed her claim.

Matilda claimed that by taking the pictures the detectives invaded her right of privacy, had embarrassed her and caused her mental suffering. The court denied her claim for relief.

When a person submits a claim to the insurance company for damages, he subjects himself to some checking. No claimant can complain of any reasonable investigation. Matilda's pictures were all taken in public places.

The key: "Reasonable investigation."

In another case, a person sued the insurance company. It shadowed him day and night for months. Its investigators had peeked into his mail box, cut his hedge for a better view of his house, and gone on to his property without permission. Such "investigations" offend community standards and amount to a kind of "outrageous" conduct. For this the insurance company did pay damages.

The name of Napa is all that is left of the Napa Indians who were virtually exterminated by smallpox in 1838. Many meanings have been advanced—"harpoon point," "fish," "abundant," "near home." Napa Valley, according to tradition, was the cradle of the Suysun (Suisun) race.

BIG AND LITTLE QUEENS

Two Sisters Will Reign Over Portuguese Festival

Holy Ghost Sunday will be celebrated this weekend in Sausalito.

Rosary will be recited at 8:30 p.m. Saturday at the IDESST Hall on Caledonia Street. A parade will leave the IDESST Hall at 9:30 a.m. Sunday, which is Holy Ghost Sunday in the Portuguese celebration, to Star of the Sea Church, 180 Harrison Avenue, where Rev. Henry O'Flynn, pastor, will celebrate Mass.

Father O'Flynn will also crown the two queens of the parade at the church.

Terry Brazil, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Brazil of Muir Beach, will be crowned "Big Queen." Her sister, Jeanette, will be crowned "Little Queen."

After Mass, the parade will proceed to Vina Del Mar Plaza and along Bridgeway back to the hall for the traditional meal of sopas and meat. During the remainder of the day there will be a square dance, called by the Portuguese a chamarita.

Parade chairman Manuel E. Silva announces the following participants in the parade: La Sabres Drum and Bugle Corps of Healdsburg, California champions; Cathay Post Drum and Bugle Corps of San Francisco; Job's Daughters Bethel 3 drill team, San Francisco; Sandra Smith's majorette group of Hayward, and Petaluma Municipal Band. There will also be visiting queens from Sebastopol, Petaluma, Novato and other cities, said Silva, as well as last year's "Big Queen," Loretta Nunes of San Rafael.

Dancing Saturday and Sunday evenings will be to the music of Mel Castro of Hayward.

Maids to the "Big Queen" are Jerry and Antoinette Brazil, sisters of the queen. Maids to the "Little Queen" will be Barbara Giannecchini, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Giannecchini of Mill Valley, and Christy Pape, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Mattos of Woodacre.

St. Isabella with her bouquet of red roses symbolizing peace will be Eva Cunha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Cunha of Corte Madera.

The Holy Ghost celebration in Sausalito has been traditional since May 13, 1888. It derives from a time in the 13th century when, during a famine, Queen Isabella prayed for help of the Holy Ghost and promised to build a church for relief of the famine.

Two days later a ship appeared in the harbor with food and wheat and Queen Isabella led the people to the church for prayer of thanksgiving. She took the crown in the church and placed it on the head of a peasant girl and her jewels on the altar.

A white dove, the story tells, flew into the church and descended upon her.

President of the IDESST lodge this year is Thomas A. Nunes of San Rafael.

Attending Classes

Dr. Robert W. Pearce of San Rafael is attending advanced chiropractor classes in Los Angeles conducted by Dr. C. S. Gonstead of Wisconsin this week.

Fulltime Pollution Monitoring Due

Marin County is to have a full-time air pollution monitoring station sometime during the next fiscal year.

Four such stations — one in Marin, two in Contra Costa and one in Alameda County — are provided in the $987,105 budget for the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District adopted by district directors yesterday in San Francisco.

Two-thirds of the cost of the monitoring stations will be paid by federal funds.

The budget is $234,720 above that for the current fiscal year, and is expected to call for a tax rate increase of about two-tenths of one per cent. The district levied a one-cent tax this year.

Besides the monitoring stations, it provides for nine additional field inspectors, to bring the district's enforcement "army" to 25, and for an additional air pollution engineer besides the three already employed.

It also includes pay raises ranging from two and one-half to five per cent.

Marin County's share of the budget was figured at $47,032.61.

Directors named William A. Gnoss, Marin County supervisor; Alberto Merrill, Las Gatos city councilman, and William Blake, San Francisco County supervisor, to a nominating committee to propose officers for the next fiscal year. Charles W. Aby, San Rafael city councilman, is the incumbent chairman.

Next meeting will be at 10 a.m. July 7 in the district office at 1480 Mission Street, San Francisco.

Redwood Junior Is Selected To Go To The Netherlands

Elizabeth A (Betsy) Klein, a 17-year-old junior at Redwood High School, has been selected to go to The Netherlands this summer under the Experiment in International Living program.

The organization announced yesterday that Elizabeth will have a two-and-one-half month European stay, leaving June 29 from New York City and returning to New York Sept. 8.

Elizabeth, who applied on her own, said, "I put France as a first choice because I took French in school."

After leaving New York by plane, she will attend a four-day orientation period in Amsterdam, and then live with a Dutch family for a month.

Then the students and a "brother" or "sister" from the family host family will travel for five weeks, and the Americans will sail from France Sept. 1.

Elizabeth is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Russell R. Klein, 3 Vineyard Way, Kentfield.

Youth Graduates

A June graduate from Linfield College in McMinnville, Ore., is Gerald A. Moyer, son of Rev. and Mrs. Gerald S. Moyer of 9 Granada Drive, Corte Madera. Moyer received a bachelor of science degree in business administration. His father, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Corte Madera, participated in the college baccalaureate service.

HOW TO PUT 6 ELEPHANTS IN A COMPACT!

*AND THAT'S WHERE THE DODGE BOYS START TO DEAL!

1. See the Dodge Boys and get a Dart. (It's the most car for the least money.)
2. Put three in front and three in back. (Dart has more trunk space, you know.)

We really don't recommend packing pachyderms in a compact. It's no easy tusk. We just want to make the point that a Dodge Dart has a lot of room—much more than you bargain for. And that's not all...you'll find Dart is great on looks, long on wheelbase, big on brakes, and superior on suspension. In fact, Dart gives you more from tip to trunk—much more—but costs the same. Sure, it's hard to believe—you don't get many bargains like Dart these days—but it's no mumbo jumbo!

*Price given is manufacturer's suggested retail price for 2 door sedans, 6 cyl, and include factory retail provision for dealer new car preparation and E. H. and O. State and/or local taxes, if any, destination charges and optional equipment are not included.

Go see the Dodge Boys...Wonderful guys to deal with!
